PACT FOES HOLD OFF ENEMIES

For a whole generation, the Kaiser stood at the center of information at every crisis of the world, including the start, the critical decisions, and the end of the World War. What-ever the world knew, and much more that was secret, he knew. Now he will tell it, or evade telling it.

If he tells it, that will make one of the most important first-hand contributions to historical knowl-edge.

If he evades, wriggles and propa-gandizes it, even that will throw much unintended light on forces that moved Europe. Anyhow, it is worth the money. And transformed into marks or guldens, it is evidently suf-ficient for the modest needs of even an ex-kaiser.

For the first time in his life, the Kaiser will have supplied those needs by his own resources.

WU—It seems hard to believe that Wu Ting-fang is dead—Wu the chatty, irrepressible, the per-ennially youthful. It is only a few months ago that Wu was protesting against the rule of old men in China, and insisting that young men should lead. Wu was over eighty then, but he took it quite for granted, as did everyone else, that he was one of the young men.

And to those of us who also can no longer prove our youth by the calendar, it seems only a little while ago that Wu, in Washington, was the only person in the world able to get a message through to the be-leagured diplomats in Peking, during the Boxer rebellion. Auto-mobiles were so rare as to be a curios-ity in those days, but Wu had one—a little three-horsepower one-seated Locomobile steam buggy. When the message at last came out of ancient China, released into barbarism, the Chinese minister in Washington speeded down the streets to the White House in this then newest of modern contraptions, waving the message in the air.

There could be no better con-trast between Wu Ting-fang and the nation he represented. He was a modern of the moderns and a West-erner of the West. He was even doubtful whether to return to China and try to modernize his country or to stay in America and practice law, which he was quite qualified to do. He knew English as few Americans know it, and used it to make himself one of the most popular figures in American public life. He talked constantly, with carefully planned indiscretion, violating all the rules of diplomatic craft, and he did it with a wily discretion that proved him a past master of the art he pre-tended to ignore.

Returning to China, he became the intellectual movement, an impor-tant figure in the revolution, and the first lieutenant of Sun Yat-sen in the government, first of China and then of South China. When he died he had just received the offer of the premiership of a reunited China. It is doubtful if anyone can take his place in this task. Anyhow, he was one of the most interesting figures in the world—in China, the best Chinaman that ever came out of America, and in America the best American that ever came out of London.

DIAGNOSE DISEASE—When a sit-uation reaches the stage of the Illinois coal-strike riots, there is of course nothing to do with it but to suppress it by force. It is like a Malay muck-runner. When he starts to run, there is nothing to do but kill him quick. But our Malays in Sulu no longer run amuck. We have learned to stop it before it starts.

These Illinois strikers treated the "scabs" worse than any soldiers in the war treated their enemies. They took real joy in torturing them, and refusing to let them die. Men do that only to those whom they hate fiendishly.

They must not do it, and they must be stopped by force if they try. They are the worst enemies of their own cause.

But there was something wrong with Sulu in an internal situa-tion in which men could hate each other like that. We can do nothing but treat the symptoms now. But before it happens again would it not be well to diagnose the disease?

TRUE ART PERMANENT—The supreme beauty of the Lincoln Memorial just dedicated in Wash-ington is a reminder of one respect in which we have surpassed Lincoln's time. No architect in America could have designed that structure, in the period immediately following Lin-coln's death, or if by some miracle of genius it were designed, no com-mittee representing the taste of the time would have accepted it. What-ever could have been produced then would have represented the tempo-rary style of the time—and that the worst style in the history of archi-tecture. The building just dedi-cated, on the other hand, represents the changeless economy of the age. Styles change, but Art is eternal. The style building, in Washington, represents the style of the "General Grant period," which no other period would have endured. But the Lin-coln memorial would have evoked the admiration of Phidias or Michel-angelo—or even of the mediaeval cathedral builders, who might have deplored the classicism but would have praised its simple perfection. It is in a "style," but a style which has lasted already twenty-five hun-dred years, and is good for twenty-five thousand more.

The styles that last, whether in architecture, poetry or dress-making,

ULSTER LOOKS FOR MAN TO FILL SHOES OF SLAIN MARSHAL

The assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry H. Wilson (lower left) has brought a crisis in military affairs in North Ireland as it has deprived Premier Sir James Craig (upper left) of the services of a military ad-viser in the present trouble. London is being urged to appoint a suc-cessor to the slain marshal as quickly as possible and Lieutenant General The Earl of Cavan (right) is being mentioned as the man best fitted to step into the place made vacant by the brutal murder of Sir Henry.

RAILROAD WAGE BODY LAUNCHES PLAN TO HALT BIG STRIKE

(United Press Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, June 29.—Settlement of the railroad dispute which threatens to result in a strike of shop workers, Saturday was in prospect today, ac-cording to high officials in railroad circles. Predictions were freely made that the strike would not material-ize.

The United States railroad labor board summoned union heads and executives to appear before it Fri-day afternoon in an effort to settle the disagreement and prevent a strike.

The citation was issued only after Ben Hooper, chairman of the board, conferred with leading railroad executives and high union officials.

Following the conference, it was indicated that Hooper received con-siderable encouragement that a set-tlement would not be difficult to at-tain at Friday's conference.

The general belief in both union and railroad executive circles was that the railroad managers would inform the board of a decision to abide by its ruling forbidding con-tract labor and with this promise the unions would either call off or de-lay the walkout.

Several union heads pointed out that a large percentage of the work-ers voted in favor of a strike be-cause of opposition to the contract system.

Scores of maintenance of way em-ployes in the West Chicago yards are reported to be quitting their jobs today following the strike call issued to 400,000 shop craftsmen last night. Shop workers were ordered to walk out at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Although the maintenance of way organization is voting on a strike, no strike call has yet been issued by leaders of that organization.

FEAR McCUMBER FACING DEFEAT IN FIGHT FOR SENATE POST

(United Press Leased Wire)
FARGO, N. D., June 29.—With 508 precincts reported at 2:30 the vote in Tuesday's senatorial primary was: McCumber, 32,139; Frazier, 22,782, a lead for McCumber of 9,357.

(United Press Leased Wire)
FARGO, N. D., June 29.—On the face of returns today, it appeared to neutral political observers here that Senator Porter J. McCumber, chairman of the senate finance com-mittee, has been defeated for re-nomination.

Lynn J. Frazier, Non-Partisan, will be the Republican senatorial nominee, if final returns bear out the trend thus far.

The vote McCumber was obtain-ing from large cities was believed in-sufficient to allow him to maintain his lead with the heavy Frazier vote from farming districts coming.

Few farmer votes were reported up to noon, but in several Western counties normally non-partisan, Frazier was running a little lower than in the recall election last No-vember when he was ousted from the governorship.

With a little more than a tenth of the estimated vote counted—mostly from the larger cities—Senator McCumber was running less than two to one over Frazier and from past elections close neutral ob-servers expected he would have to run about two and a half to one in these districts to win. The vote in 227 precincts gave McCumber 17,946 and Frazier 10,432—a lead for McCumber of 7,514.

McCumber may be expected to in-crease his lead during the day. He may have a lead of 20,000 and still lose when the distant county pre-cincts come in. It may be forty-eight hours before the tabulation is far enough along to determine the outcome.

Non-Partisan headquarters asserted Frazier would win by 20,000 or more.

McCumber's headquarters de-clined to make any comment.

An unbiased politician whose long experience in North Dakota should lend some authority to his state-ments, said he believed Frazier would win by 2,000.

Governor R. A. Nestos was piling up a lead in the race for the Re-publican nomination for governor that looked like a winning margin.

He was running about even with his vote in the early tabulations last No-vember and with 227 precincts counted had a vote of 21,055 against $864 for B. F. Baker, Non-Partisan—a lead of 12,191.

Suspect Incendiary Plot As Bridge Fire Halts Coal Shipments

PUEBLO, Colo., June 29.—Two railroad bridges, believed to have been purposely set on fire, were destroyed near Walsenburg early today, according to re-po-rts reaching here. Several mines are unable to ship coal as a result of the fires.

One mine was flooded and a tippie burned, the reports said. The mines are owned by the Colo-rado Fuel and Iron company.

State rangers may be called into the district, it was indi-cated.

TROOPS IN DRIVE ON BANDITS

Kidnapers Quit Oil Field; Ask 15,000 Pesos In Tribute

THREATEN TO SEIZE NEW TAMPICO CAMP

Hughes Demands Drastic Action for Latest Bandit Outrage

(United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, June 29.—Mexi-can bandits have departed from the camp of the Cortez Oil company near Tampico, releasing the forty Americans who had been held for ransom there, according to state de-partment advices today.

The bandits informed the Ameri-cans they would return next Sunday to collect 15,000 pesos tribute.

At the same time the state de-partment was informed that bandits seized the Peccore camp of the La Corona Oil company, Tuesday after-noon, capturing six Americans. This is a subsidiary of the Royal Dutch Shell company. "General" Gorozave, who occupied the Cortez camp, is responsible for the second seizure, ac-cording to American Consul Shaw at Tampico.

Threatens New Outrage

Gorozave left word at the Cortez camp that he would also seize the Mexican Gulf Oil company, an American-British concern, Shaw was informed.

Secretary of State Hughes dis-patched instructions today to Ameri-can Charge Summerlin at Mexico City to demand protection for the American captives at La Corona camp, and the capture and punish-ment of the bandits who seized A. Bruce Bielaski, formerly with the de-partment of justice.

Drastic action against Gorozave and his men will be demanded in an-other note to be dispatched later, on the Cortez incident, it was under-stood.

Troops Now En Route

The Mexican government is tak-ing vigorous steps to put a stop to the bandit raids, Hughes was in-formed by Shaw and Summerlin. Two boatloads of troops have been dispatched to the Tampico district from Vera Cruz.

Some light on reports that the kidnapers were part of the old war in the Tampico district, may be given by A. Bruce Bielaski, who is now believed to be in Mexico City following his release by bandits. An official report regarding the cir-cumstances surrounding Bielaski's kid-napping will be asked, it was learned.

Meanwhile congressional leaders will ask for complete information on the Mexican situation unless the present controversy is promptly cleared up.

British Troops Guard Banks as Authorities Fear Looting

WAR SPREADING OVER ALL SOUTH IRELAND

Important Dublin Buildings Held By Anti-British Forces

(United Press Leased Wire)
DUBLIN, June 29.—(3:30 p. m.)—Irish rebels took the offensive this afternoon in their battle with Free State troops.

The insurgents, assisted by armed Independent Workers of the World are seizing strategic buildings on the street corners throughout Dublin.

The fighting at the Four Courts is continuing with street battles in progress at many other points.

British troops are on guard at the banks to protect them from looters. Hundreds of insurgents answered the summons of their chief, Rory O'Connor, who is besieged in Four Courts, and mobilized for street bat-tles with Free State soldiers.

The resisting parties have large stores of ammunition and rations and are well prepared to withstand a long battle.

Rebel Leaders Held

Commandant McKenna and two members of his staff were arrested by Free State soldiers as they were hurrying toward Dublin to aid the insurgents.

Collins issued a proclamation to his troops, in which he declared the insurgents were bringing chaos and disorder to the social and economic life of Ireland. The army was urged to stand fast and carry out its duty.

Unconfirmed reports said that Colonel Mandeville and Captain Vaughn, Free State Officers, had been mortally wounded or killed.

The provisional government com-mandered the entire telephone sys-tem of Dublin and the halting of all trains was believed imminent.

Collins Leads Army

Michael Collins head of the pro-vision government, personally di-rected operations against the insurgents.

The most serious aspect of the siege from the viewpoint of the Free State forces, is the number of snipers' nests that have been set up back of the besiegers.

O'Connor, in spite of the fact that he is besieged in Four Courts, was able by some means to communicate with outside Dublin. He sent out messengers, calling upon all friends of the republic to join him in his battle against his former comrades.

It was reported reliably in Dublin that malcontents in the provinces were being mobilized to fight for the republic.

Open Fire on Bank

Insurgents carried the fight to the Free State's this afternoon in the vicinity of the Bank of Ireland.

The Sackville club was seized by rebels.

Two rebels and two civilians were killed in the fight around the bank. Rebels poured a stream of fire into the bank from nearby roofs and Free State soldiers in the interior of the bank replied to the fire, beating off the attack.

PRESIDENT TO HOLD CLUB OVER MINERS

BY KENNETH W. CLARK

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Presi-dent Harding today nominated Dwight R. Jackson to be postmaster at Glendale, Calif.

will make a strong personal ap-pel that warring factions get together and settle differences.

Miners and operators will be told that if voluntary steps are not taken in the near future to end the tie-up the government, to protect public interest, will be forced to take drastic measures looking toward ending the dis-pute.

A compromise plan for nego-tiations to settle the strike may be submitted by Harding, as it is known such a proposal has been discussed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Secretary of Labor Davis with Harding.

NAME THREE AS SLAYERS OF RATHENAU

One Suspect in Assassination is Now Under Arrest; Alleged Killers Betrayed to Police.

BERLIN, June 29.—Ernest Teschow, a monarchist agitator, was arrested at Frankfurt today on suspicion he is one of three agents who assassinated Walter Rathenau last Saturday.

Three men, prominent in form-er monarchistic uprisings, have been named by the police as the assassins.

They are Teschow, Herman Fischer and Fritz Kauer, all former members of the Erhardt brigade, who were betrayed to authorities by a man who al-leged he was one of the con-spirators. Fischer and Kauer are being sought throughout Germany.

SOLONS DEMAND REPORT ON OIL OWNERSHIP

(United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, June 29.—The senate commerce committee today reported out a resolution by Sen-ator King, Utah, directing the fed-eral trade commission to investigate and report to the senate the own-ership by persons who are not citi-zens of the United States of shares of the Union Oil company, Delaware, the Union Oil company, California, and the Shell Oil company, Califor-nia.

The resolution also asks whether Great Britain, the British dominions, Holland and Rumania, having oil lands within their territories, dis-criminate against American citizens with respect to ownership of land.

The King resolution further asks information on the alleged activity of the three aforementioned oil com-panies in obtaining new oil holdings in the United States.

MAN SLIGHTLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH HERE

Arthur Sarasabal, Fullerton, sus-tained slight cuts on the head from flying glass, in a motor accident here early today, according to a report on file at police headquarters.

R. S. McGaughy, Fullerton, was driving Sarasabal's car, when it col-lided with a car belonging to Mrs. Frances Smith, 320 Halesworth street. The Smith car, parked with its lights turned off, was in front of the Fullerton machine, return-ing from a dance at Balboa, struck it. Both cars were damaged.

No one was hurt in several other traffic accidents late yesterday. E. A. Golhan's car was struck by a Crown stage on Fourth street at about 4:30 p. m. J. W. Wright's car struck another machine at Tustin. D. D. Parsons' car and a small road-ster collided at Fourth and Birch streets last evening.

CHICAGO, June 29.—James All-ison said six cases in the back of his automobile contained cats. Ser-geant of Police Wilson said gin Wilson was right.

EX-SERVICE MEN CLAIM SCHOOL 'HELL HOLE'

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Michael Lyons, representing 450 ex-service men at Camp Sherman, Ohio, today before the national convention of the Disabled American War Vet-erans demanded the closing of the camp. Lyons charged that the vo-cational training school is a virtual prison.

He stated that men were given six months training and then sent out. He said that no man ever graduated from there at that time was able to hold a position.

Lyons declared that the camp is "infested with spies from Wash-ington." If one of the ex-service men protests against anything in con-nection with the camp, Lyons said, his pay is reduced.

An absolute spirit of militarism dominates the camp, he declared.

He said the commander at the camp, before a public meeting in Cincinnati, had called the students at Camp Sherman "drunks, slackers and gamblers."

James Lumm also representing the men at Camp Sherman, denounced the place as a "vocational prison" and "hell hole."

According to Lumm, he had at-tempted to speak with Colonel Charles Forbes on one occasion when, Forbes had visited the camp. "Are you a drafted man?" Forbes was said to have asked Lumm.

Lumm replied that he was.

"I refuse to listen to a drafted man. You should be thankful for what you have," Lumm said Forbes replied.

Judge Robert S. Marx at the con-clusion of Lumm's talk advised all ex-service men to write to their congressmen in regard to the camp.

CROSS-COMPLAINT OF WIFE WINS DIVORCE

Having convinced the court that her charge of desertion had more merit than the same charge brought by her husband against her, Iva Hicks, of Santa Ana, had today been granted a decree of divorce from Walter Hicks, of Kern county.

The case was heard yesterday by Superior Judge Z. B. West, who granted the decree on Mrs. Hicks' cross-complaint. Mrs. Hicks was also awarded custody of their 5-year-old daughter, with permission given the father to have the child for one week out of each year and to visit her at other specified times.

Mrs. Hicks was represented at the trial by Attorneys Morris Cain and Roland Thompson.

SOLONS O. K. RIVERS AND HARBOR BILL

Senate Puts Limit on Oakland Harbor Improvements Pending Alteration of Bridges.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The rivers and harbors bill was today ordered favorably reported to the senate by the commerce com-mittee, with the provisions relating to the Cape Cod, Boston and New York canal, and Dismal Canal in North Carolina, omitted.

These were ordered held up until Senator Jones, Washington, chairman, makes a poll of the committee to determine whether they should be included in the bill. It is proposed that both of these canals be purchased by the government, as connecting links in the inland waterway system between Boston and the South.

Changes proposed by the sen-ate from the house bill are:

No work on Oakland harbor, California, shall extend above the Harrison street and Webster street bridges until they have been removed or altered.

Hundreds Aboard Ship Periled In Crash Are Saved

NEWPORT, R. I., June 29.—The Fall River liner, Providence, hit a reef off Newport today.

Several hundred passengers en-route on the steamer from New York to Fall River were aroused from sleep as the ship crashed upon the rocks at Dumplings on the Jamestown shore, crushing in her bow.

All the passengers were safely re-moved and landed at Jamestown with the assistance of the steamer General, also of the Fall River line. They were put on a special train and carried on to their destination.

The damage to the steamer is so slight that emergency repairs are being made and it is believed the ship will be floated off the reef at high tide, about noon.

DECISION NEAR IN PLACENTIAN'S CASE

A decision was expected to be ren-dered this afternoon by Justice J. R. Cox in the case of Albert Nelson and D. H. Marshall, of Mexico City, charged with permitting water to flow upon a highway.

Trial of the case was completed late yesterday and the court took his ruling under advisement. Pre-viously the court had denied a motion to dismiss, offered by Defense Coun-sel L. A. West after the prosecution, represented by Deputy District At-torney D. G. Wetlin, had rested its case.

Wetlin vigorously opposed the motion, which was based upon a techni-cality in the complaint.

Both Nelson and Marshall ad-mitted, in testifying, that the water "got away," but said that they had tried to prevent such a happening by rigging the soil between the road and the ranch, adjoining.

ASK FOR PROBATE OF $10,500 ESTATE HERE

Probate of the will of the late Susan I. Degryse, of Anaheim, who died June 22, was asked today in a petition by A. B. McCord, Anaheim, which was on file in the superior court.

The $10,500 estate, which includes Anaheim residence property, is be-queathed to five children of the de-ceased, Evelyn, Lillian, Earl, Amy and Anna Degryse.

Attorneys Ames and McFadden, Anaheim, represent the petitioner.

PULLS WRONG HOOK

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—A new watchman in a downtown building was instructed to ring in every hour on the watchman's register box. The fire department answered the first ring, and the second one turned in a burglar alarm, owing to his lack of discretion in selecting the hooks to pull.

"30" BULLETINS

DENVER, June 29.—State rangers were being mobilized here today in case of possible disorders in the Colorado coal fields following the burning of two railroad bridges and a mine tippie near Walsenburg early today. State officials said strike sympathizers were to blame for the fires. National guard tanks were also being prepared for duty in case they are needed. Officials here, how-ever, expressed no alarm over the situation.

are those that conform to the permanent canons of art. There are such canons. Jazz music, futuristic painting, free verse, bustling dress-making and gingerbread architecture do not conform to them. When they go out of style they are out. But Beethoven, Murillo, Petrarch, the Greek robe, and the Parthenon are never in nor out of style. And whatever else is good in any art, no matter how far it may differ from them in form, is good by the permanent standards which they exemplify. Copyright, 1922, by All Western Syn.

GEORGE JEFFREY IN SUPERVISOR RACE

George Jeffrey, prominent rancher of the Irvine section, today announced his candidacy for the office of supervisor of the fifth district, entering the race against H. A. Wassum, the incumbent.

At the same time, Jeffrey stated that H. R. Taylor, well known as Tustin, who had already entered the race for the office of supervisor of the fifth district, had withdrawn his candidacy and had pledged his support to Jeffrey.

Jeffrey, who has lived in the Irvine district twenty years, announced that he would run on a platform of "giving the fifth district a square deal."

"I am a practical man when it comes to road building," he said. "I built five miles of road on the Irvine ranch. I know just how much work ought to be produced each day by men and machines. Furthermore, I have had experience in the handling of large sums of money."

Jeffrey is handling 120 acres of land on the Laguna road, all under irrigation. Eighty-four acres of this property is in citrus fruits. Jeffrey has entirely ceased his dry farming operations.

Taylor, it was stated, had already begun circulating his campaign literature, but had come to the conclusion that his farming and nursery interests were such that he did not have the time to put into the campaign that he had expected. He says that he will support Jeffrey.

FINANCIAL REPORT REVEALS SCHOOL SYSTEM PROSPEROUS

Santa Ana's school system is in a state of unusual prosperity.

This was indicated in the annual financial report submitted to the board of education by Secretary F. L. Andrews yesterday afternoon. Andrews, assisted by the assistant secretary, Miss Elizabeth Phillips, compiled figures which show creditable balances in all divisions.

The report follows:

To the Board of Education, Santa Ana, Calif.: I, herewith, respectfully submit my report of receipts and expenditures for the year ending June 30, 1922, together with a statement of the bonded indebtedness of the City of Santa Ana school district at the close of the fiscal year 1922:

Listen, Investors! There are many business income properties in Los Angeles (much less favorably located than the above property) that; because of the natural EXPANSION of the city have INCREASED their rental income in the past three years considerably MORE than (note above figures) we figure to increase the rental on the Western Avenue Markets, Inc., IN THE NEXT TEN YEARS.

It is a well-known fact that there are hundreds of conservative and hard-headed investors who have received from 100 per cent to 500 per cent PROFIT on real estate investments in the past two or three years. ON THE OTHER HAND, there are thousands of people in this city who are NOW regretting lost past opportunities of this nature.

In the face of these facts, YOU cannot afford to bet against the future of Los Angeles. Because IN THE LIGHT OF PAST EXPERIENCE you are SURE to LOSE. The greatest source of wealth in Los Angeles today is REAL ESTATE. Get your share of the PROFITS from the STRATEGICALLY located southwest corner of Western avenue and Washington boulevard, in the CENTER of the exclusive WILSHIRE-WEST ADAMS District. MONTHS OF SUFFERING

How a Baltimore Girl Recovered Her Health

Baltimore, Maryland.—"For several months I suffered with severe backache and general weakness. I could not sleep comfortably at night for pains in my back. I found your book about one day and after reading it began at once to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very good results and some of my friends are taking it now. You may use this letter to help other girls, as the letters in your book helped me."

—ROSE WADNER, 3018 Roseland Place, Baltimore, Md.

That is the thought so often expressed in letters recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These women know what they have suffered, they describe their symptoms and state how they were finally made well.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine made from medicinal roots and herbs, and without drugs, to relieve the sickness women so often have, which is indicated by backache, weak feelings, nervousness, and no ambition to get anything done or to go anywhere. It has helped many women. Why not try it?

Four new wells began drilling for oil in Orange county during the week ending June 24, as shown by the weekly review of the State Mining bureau. One of these is by the Standard in the Coyote hills, the others by the International Petroleum, the Mazdah and the Union, all at Huntington Beach.

Leaving tomorrow morning for Los Angeles, Dr. Mary H. Wright will attend the sessions of the Woman's National Osteopathic hospital, at the Ambassador hotel, Saturday and Monday, when will precede the opening of the convention of the National Osteopathic association. The later association will convene Monday at the Ambassador and this will mark the first time the honor of being the convention city has ever fallen to a city on the Pacific slope. The convention will continue the entire week and Dr. Wright will stay for the duration of it. Other osteopaths of the city will also attend the various sessions.

PICK BARTON FLATS FOR SCOUTS' CAMP

The summer camp for Orange county Boy Scouts will be held at Barton Flats.

This was announced here today following a meeting held yesterday at Anaheim, when the camp committee of the county scout council discussed the matter. The camp will open July 12, and will continue six weeks, the time being divided into two-week periods.

Barton Flats is situated just above the Santa Ana river control back of Redlands, and is considered an ideal camping spot. Dr. M. A. Patton, chairman of the committee, pointed out that San Bernardino, Gray Back, Big Bear lake, Erwin lake, the state fish hatchery, Camp Radford and Sugar Loaf mountain are within hiking distance of the camp. The site is located among large evergreen trees, some distance from all civil-

CLAIM DEEDS SET ON LAND Fullerton City Councils Join Outfall Sewer

CITY COUNCILS DISCUSS PLAN AT MEETING

That the city councils of Santa Ana and Anaheim will consider a request from Fullerton for permission to join in the program for the building of a joint outfall sewer to the ocean, became known here today, following a joint meeting of the Santa Ana and Anaheim boards at the council chambers, this city, last night, held for a discussion of matters pertaining to the construction of the project.

Clyde Bishop, special city counsel for Santa Ana, disclosed to the two boards the intention of Fullerton to ask permission to join in the enterprise. At the request of the Fullerton council he had prepared a formal resolution for adoption by the northern city board providing for the appointment of committees to present the matter to the two councils.

Will Not Object
Members of both councils declared they had no objection to Fullerton joining them at this time, providing it desired to come into the enterprise under conditions that met their view of the matter.

It was pointed out that the program has proceeded too far to make any alterations allowing for a larger outfall sewer and that if the northern city came in it would do so with the understanding that the outfall would be available only until such time as the two cities may require the full capacity of the line.

No formal motion or action was taken, as the initiative must come from the Fullerton board. This probably will be at the next meeting of that council, it was said.

Consider Rights of Way
The principal subject before the joint meeting last night hinged on the preparations to obtain signatures to right of way deeds. The selection of a right of way agent was placed in the hands of Mayor John G. Mitchell, of Santa Ana, and William Stark, mayor of Anaheim. Importance of getting this activity under way at once was impressed on the council by Bishop. The mayors will make an effort to procure without delay the services of a man competent to handle the work.

It was agreed that the right of way agent should not pay more than $10 an acre on any particular piece of ground. A large number of lots in a subdivision are on the desired right of way.

That obtaining of the right of way will involve considerable work, was disclosed with the announcement that eighty-five firms and individuals are involved in titles, including owners, mortgagees, judgment creditors and home-sellers.

Desire Treatment Plant
The site of sixty acres desired for a treatment plant is owned by four different persons, J. N. Hearn, 8 acres; Stephen and Eugene Grise, 12 acres, and Anne Phelon, 40 acres.

Among the owners of property needed for the right of way are the following: Stearns Rancho company, Robert Giesler, Orange County Title company, M. Kujawsky, Development Company of Los Angeles, Jack Kern, L. T. Bradford, Newport Mesa Irrigation company, H. D. Meyer, A. G. Thorpe, W. H. Holmes, F. R. Harris, F. M. Motman, Carl H. Judd, Willard Lane company, Southern Pacific Railway company, Los Angeles Trust and Savings bank, A. E. Miller, Mary H. Banning, Southern California Sugar company, Newbert Protection district and the county of Orange.

Send Engineers East
The two councils voted to send their respective engineers to St. Louis, Missouri, for investigation of the Ferguson sectional block vitrified sewer pipe, which is declared to be used extensively in the greatest success in Middle West with the pipe.

City Manager Steward of Anaheim, said that he thought it would be advisable for himself and W. E. Knox, city engineer of Santa Ana, to investigate this make of pipe before making recommendations to the council as to the character of pipe to be used here. The pipe is manufactured at St. Louis and is installed in various types of ground.

It is possible that when bids are called for, figures will be asked on both vitrified and concrete pipe.

Councilmen Present
Anaheim members present at the meeting were Councilmen William Stark, F. N. Gibbs, Godfrey Stock and Howard Gates, City Manager O. E. Steward and City Attorney Hans V. Weisel. Representing Santa Ana were Councilmen J. G. Mitchell, W. A. Greenleaf and H. H. Dale, City Engineer W. G. Knox and Special City Counsel Clyde Bishop.

zation save telephone connections. Provision is being made for at least 225 boys to attend the camp during the six weeks period. An advance crew will erect a kitchen, mess hall and swimming pool for the lads.

The cost will be $10 for the two-week period, with transportation provided.

Other members of the camp committee besides Dr. Patton are E. H. Metcalf of Anaheim; C. R. Allen, Fullerton; Willard Smith, Orange; and Fred Newcomb of Santa Ana.

ESTATE LETTERS ISSUED.
Letters of administration over the estate of the late Olive Barton were issued today on the order of Superior Judge Z. B. West to D. Noel Barton.

Accused Calls Prisoners From Jail to Testify As to His Character

After Lee Barnes, charged with a statutory offense, had introduced two prisoners from jail as character witnesses, his final appeal for acquittal was made to the jury in Superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court today by Attorney Bodkin.

Rebuttal argument by Deputy District Attorney Mozley was scheduled at 1 p. m. after which the case would go to the jury. Barnes, who is accused of attacking a 9-year-old girl at Seal Beach, declared that he was not in Seal Beach at the time the offense took place.

Barnes' two character witnesses were Ellison Goldworthy, who was brought from the Long Beach jail to testify, and C. M. Parker, a prisoner in the Orange county jail.

"Why not page some more jails for more character witnesses?" suggested Mozley, prosecuting attorney.

FOOT RACE IN ROW OFF PAIR REVEALED

That J. B. Mulvey and his wife, Cornelia, finally separated because Mulvey was unable to outrun his wife in a foot race, was related today by the husband from the witness stand in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court, where Mulvey's suit for divorce was being tried.

Mulvey, formerly of Orange, and later a resident of Anaheim, testified that his wife repeatedly attacked him with a gun, club or whatever object came most easily at hand. He repeated verbal epithets of a distinctly fiery nature which he said she hurled at him.

Unable to endure it longer, he said, he finally packed his grip. She delivered a parting shot with a handgun, he asserted, and he managed to reach the door with her in hot pursuit, he said, and escaped from the house. Mulvey bared his scars in court today as he told the story.

Meanwhile Mrs. Mulvey sat in the courtroom and emitted audible gasps of astonishment at various statements of the witness.

She was expected to have her turn this afternoon. Her cross-complaint not only asks for a decree but demands a half interest in ten acres near Anaheim, which she asserts were withheld from a property settlement previously arranged.

Mrs. Mulvey filed counter charges of abuse against her husband, alleging that she invariably acted on the defensive in their quarrels.

MARKET REPORT WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, June 29.—Various commodities were active for the day in American oil groups, which was the outstanding feature of a generally reactionary market today.

Brokers who handled orders declared the selling represented actual liquidation of the market. They were anxious to depress the whole market through an attack upon this particular group. But they were at a loss to discover the source. While a report that part of the oil stock released came from the William Rockefeller holdings was undoubtedly without foundation, the fact that Standard Oil led the decline gave some support to a story that the family prominently interested in Standard Oil was a heavy seller in the process of winding up its affairs.

Whatever justification for the selling existed, it was not to be found in rumors of unfavorable developments in the general oil situation. American oil stocks have shown extraordinary earnings for the year, totaling in some cases half of the price at which the stocks are selling.

Today were unresponsive to the strike move, which was taken to indicate the situation is not so serious as one might judge from surface indications.

Instead of showing depression over the labor outlook, Standard rails gave every sign of accumulation. This description was applicable to Great Northern, in which there was special buying following promise of a 1-2-4 per cent extra dividend this fall.

The market closed irregular. Closing prices included: U. S. Steel, 97 7-8, off 1-8; Crucible, 72 1-2, up 1-2; Mexican Petroleum, 178, up 1; Pan American, 73 1-4, off 1-8; Texas company, 46 1-2; Standard Oil of California, 99 3-4, off 1-4; Producers and Refiners, 46 1-2, off 1-2; 65 1-4, off 3-4; Studebaker, 126 3-8, up 1-4; Maxwell, 65 1-2, off 1-2; Kelly Springfield, 46 3-8, off 3-8; Tobacco Products, 80 1-2, off 1; New Haven, 28 5-8, up 5-8; New York Central, 94 1-4, up 7-8; Reading, 73 3-4, up 1-4.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE
CHICAGO, June 29.—Wheat prices advanced on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Corn was steady to higher while oats declined.

The chief news of the day was a report from Kansas that the Kansas wheat crop was producing up to expectations and that a yield of 17,000,000 bushels was anticipated.

Millers were buying all of the old wheat in sight and the cash demand was sufficient to prevent a break in prices on the board news from Kansas.

Reports on the corn crop were not so favorable. Buying was fairly brisk, although reports that the black stem rust had appeared in the Northwest were credited. Provisions were irregular.

SENSATION AS MAN'S TITLE TO RANCH, HOUSE ASSAILED

If you had recently bought a ranch, had built a new house on it, and had proceeded to settle yourself comfortably in your home, wouldn't it jar you to have some one turn up and claim that the property didn't belong to you?

Likewise, if you had loaned a man $2,500 and held a mortgage upon his property, wouldn't it worry you somewhat to be told that he didn't own the property and that your security had vanished?

That might well have been the state of mind today of Mr. and Mrs. John Otto, who built a house at Fairview, and of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lowrey, who held a mortgage upon the property.

They were among the defendants in a sensational civil suit filed late yesterday in the superior court here by T. R. Kinmonth, who appeared from Joplin, Mo., with the startling assertion that he owns the Otto property and that the deeds by which it came into Otto's hands were forged by some previous holder of the property.

Seeks to Quiet Title
Forged deeds and the spurious seal of some fictitious notary, all of which, naturally, passed scrutiny of title companies and started the property on a round of transfers from one succeeding owner to another, sums up Kinmonth's allegations in support of his suit to quiet title in himself.

Consisting of 11.14 acres, the property, Kinmonth asserts, came into his possession February 8, 1892. He supposed that he still had possession until May 25, of this year, when a communication from the county tax collector excited his curiosity and he came west from Missouri to have a look at his alleged property.

He found Otto living on it in his new house. Otto, furthermore, had a deed to the place. So Kinmonth began investigating.

He found, he says, that two deeds, purporting to have been executed by himself to S. Hansen September 18, 1919, had been recorded.

Says Signature Forged
His signature apparently had been acknowledged before a notary named Cora E. Moore, of Kern county, on September 18, and the other October 21, 1919.

The signatures were forged, Kinmonth asserts, by someone who represented himself to Hansen as

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS
SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The market is flooded with all manner of fruits and vegetables and demand is unusually large. Standard dealers, who range of prices depending largely on the amount of supplies received.

On the other hand, dealers seem to feel that prices are not sufficiently low to warrant extensive canning operations in the fruit. The demand in the cities appears to be largely for immediate consumption which does not take care of the fast ripening fruit.

The supply of peaches, apricots, plums, cantaloupes, beans, tomatoes and figs is much better and dealers are generally forced to lower their prices to stimulate movement. Large lugs of bulk peaches were selling as low as $1 while fancy packed baskets and crates sold as high as $1.25.

Strawberries and blackberries were 5 @ 10c lower on drawers.

Cantaloupe receipts still continue heavy and prices were forced to a lower level today. Best standard crates generally sold at $1.50 to $1.75 with a few sales reported at $2. Soft stock was selling at 50c to 60c per crate.

Movement from Imperial Valley has been at the rate of 400 to 500 cars daily, according to the United States bureau of markets reports and few sales shipping point are being made at $1.25 on standard crates. Most of the stock is being consigned. Sixteen cars of cantaloupes were received today.

Supplies light. Pineapples, currants, grapefruit, good celery, artichokes, cabbage, egg plant, peppers.

Supplies liberal. Apples, oranges, bananas, lemons, apricots, figs, cherries, raspberries, strawberries, peaches, blackberries, asparagus, spinach, peas, lettuce, cucumbers, tomatoes, cantaloupes, summer squash, beans.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK
HOGS—Receipts 10,000; market 10 @ 20c higher; top, $11.05.

CARE OF THE EYES

BY DR. ROY S. HORTON
OP-TOM-ETRIST

DULL CHILDREN! WHY?

There are altogether too many children who are called "dull" or "stupid" or "dummy" by their parents, neighbors and friends and especially by their teachers; when the direct and only cause is defective eyes, which could and should be corrected. Many mothers have told me, "I don't believe my child has defective eyes because I and my husband both have good eyes." That has but very little to do with defective eyes. More than 75 per cent of eye defects are caused by ignorance and wilful neglect of the young and tender eyes.

You and I have seen many young mothers pushing a small go-cart on the sidewalk with an infant or small child, flat on its back, with the sun shining fully and directly in the child's tender eyes. No sane person can witness such a scene as that and then wonder at the enormous increase of defective eyes. The same scene is witnessed on all our streets in the hot summer, as well as in winter. When the child becomes a little older, we see it on the streets bareheaded with no protection of any kind for its eyes.

When? Oh! When will the young mothers acquire sufficient common sense to take at least some care and protection for the eyes of their infant and small child?

IT IS SAID THAT

Normal eyes working under good conditions use about 16 per cent of the total nervous energy of the body.

Eyes working under conditions of strain due to defects, even only to the extent that strain is increased but vision not impaired, often consume double and triple the energy they should and in some conditions cause a drain that amounts to as much as half of all the energy of the body.

When the eyes are using more than their allotted 16 per cent of total nervous energy they are apt to produce nervous disturbance. This disturbance may be manifest in a great many ways though the owner of the eyes is not conscious of any defect of vision.

Such conditions can only be relieved by properly fitted glasses prescribed after a thorough examination by one trained to that particular work.

FLORAL SETTING ADDS CHARM TO WEDDING

TUSTIN, June 29.—Standing under a wedding bell fashioned of Shasta daisies, before an altar banked with the same flower and great quantities of greenery, and in the presence of relatives and friends, who filled the Presbyterian church to its capacity, Miss Martha Lillian Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Shatto, of Tustin, last night at 8 o'clock became the bride of Paul Henry Bruns, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bruns, of Santa Ana, the Rev. William S. McDougall officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The entire church was festooned with ferns and flowers, the service was impressive, and the bride party personnel included a group of girls as charming as any ever assembled for such an occasion in Orange county.

Previous to the arrival of the bridal party, Miss Margaret Tingley, prettily gowned in lavender organdie, sang Cadman's "At Dawning" and Miss Vera Smith, wearing yellow organdie, sang "O Promise Me." Alan A. Revell, of Santa Ana, presided at the piano, and to the strains of Lohengrin's bridal chorus the bridal party entered the church at the appointed hour.

Bearing chains of daisies and taking their places to form the animated pillars for a garlanded pathway for the bride and her attendants were little Josephine Martin, niece of the bride, in a crisp little frock of pink organdie; Jeanette Crawford, in pink; Frances Bowman, in blue; Alice McDougall, in blue, and the three little nephews of the bride, Martin, Donald and Curtiss Bowman, and David McDougall.

Agnes McDougall, the little flower girl, dainty in her yellow frock, performed her pretty part gracefully, and Lester Bowman, nephew of the bride, enjoyed the privilege of carrying the rings.

The bride's maids were charmingly costumed in modish organdie frocks. They were Miss Beatrice Vegely, of Santa Ana, who wore yellow; Miss Ruth Violett, of Garden Grove, lavender; Miss Helen Millar, of Pacific Beach, turquoise; Miss Thelma Artz, of Tustin, apricot; Miss Nellie Ware, of Tustin, baby blue; Miss Elizabeth McDougall, of Tustin, rose; Miss Irene Preble, Tustin, pink, and Miss Callie Burton, of Nestor, orchid.

Mrs. William H. Bowman, of Tustin, matron of honor, was a picturesque figure in apple green organdie.

Followed then the radiant young bride on the arm of her brother, Claude P. Martin, of Hemet. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Irving M. Gilbert, of Los Angeles, and the Rev. Mr. McDougall and the ceremony was solemnized.

The bride presented a picture long to be remembered in her gown of exquisite ivory white satin, embroidered in pearls. Long side panels were tasseled with pearls and georgette sleeves, were pearl trimmed. The neck of her gown was cut round and accentuated the beauty of the pearl necklace, her only ornament, the gift of the groom. The veil, trimmed with lace, was one that had served on many important occasions in the family. It was attached to the coiffure with coronet of pearls and orange blossoms. A shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley completed the lovely picture.

Ushers at the wedding were: Karl Loersch, of Los Angeles; John E. Bruns, Jr., of Santa Ana; Maurice Wood, of San Bernardino; Melville Head, of Santa Ana; George B. Harvey, of Los Angeles; Clarence Bowman, Tustin; David F. Gettis, of Los Angeles, and Milburn G. Harvey, of Los Angeles.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the flower-garlanded social room of the church, and it was here also that a delectable buffet-served supper was enjoyed the following pretty girls, friends of the bride, presiding over the service:

Miss Gladys Richey, of La Mesa; Mrs. Ralph Eells, of Anaheim; Miss Jenny Pollard, of Santa Ana; Miss Phiney, Miss Laurene Sauters and Miss Margery Rawlings, all of Tustin.

Immediately after cutting the bride's cake, which was made for her by Mrs. Preble, the newly-married pair left for a honeymoon trip to Catalina, where they will remain a week or so, and then return to make arrangements to go to Chicago the latter part of July, where they will spend the month of August as the guests of relatives of the bride. A visit to friends in Washington is to follow and then they go to Cambridge. It is here that they will live for the groom will enter Harvard for a continuation of his law studies while the bride will enter Radcliffe and specialize in the study of English.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allen's, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of using he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Allen's with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.

Showers and Quilting Bee Honor Popular Bride To Wed July First

With the announcement that Saturday, July 1, had been selected as the date of the Hoy-Olmstead nuptials, Miss Ada Hoy, bride-to-be, continues to be the recipient of numerous attentions from her friends.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. A. J. McFadden, 1108 North Main street, entertained with a delightful planned and carried out shower, at which the honoree was deluged under a wave of delicious jellies.

The occasion called together a number of close friends of Santa Ana high school and Pomona college days, as well as relatives on Miss Hoy, and the afternoon was spent in social chat and reminiscences of school days while fingers flew over "last minute" trousseau sewing. A telephone call for the honor guest kept her away from the circle for several minutes, and when she returned, it was to find her place filled to overflowing with an assortment of home-made jellies, which will amply stock the "jam shelf" of her new home.

Later in the afternoon Mrs. McFadden with the assistance of her three daughters, the Misses Mary, Edith and Annabel McFadden, served a dainty refreshment menu.

The guest list for the pleasant affair comprised, in addition to Miss Hoy, the honoree, her grandmother, Mrs. A. F. McFadden, her mother, Mrs. W. W. Hoy, Mesdames Frank Finster, E. T. McFadden, J. G. Kennedy, Robert McFadden, John McAuley, J. T. Raitt, A. J. Raitt, Emmet Raitt, G. E. Raitt, S. H. Finley, E. O. McMahon, A. Schweissner, H. W. Walker, the Misses Mabel, Ada and Flora McFadden, Miss Verdelle Breckenridge, Miss Jean McFadden, Miss Gailene Finley, Miss Janet Raitt, Miss Vivian Cox, Miss Claudine Seaver and the Misses Jewel and Ruth Hickox.

QUILTING BEE
Miss Hoy was further honored yesterday afternoon when Miss Mabel McFadden and Miss Flora McFadden summoned the "members of the clan" to their home, 908 North Main street, to do honor to the July bride.

A quilting bee was the chosen entertainment, with gay patches in pastel colorings of pink, blue and lavender to be joined in a pretty design with white squares. The quilt was placed by the guests and left all in readiness for the dainty stitches with which it will be quilted.

Only members of the family were represented among the guests, who at a late hour in the afternoon were regaled with appetizing refreshments, in the serving of which the two hostesses were assisted by their mother and sister, Mrs. McFadden and Miss Ada McFadden.

A surprise feature was introduced at the close of the refreshment hour, when Miss Hoy was showered with a collection of pretty miscellaneous gifts from her assembled "sisters, aunts and cousins."

The guests included Miss Ada Hoy, honor guest; Mrs. W. W. Hoy, Mrs. A. F. McFadden, Mrs. Frank Finster, Miss Jean McFadden, Miss Jeannette McFadden, Mrs. John A. McFadden, Mrs. J. T. Raitt, Mrs. Emmet Raitt of Berkeley, Mrs. Herbert Walker, Mrs. E. T. McFadden, Mrs. A. J. McFadden, Mrs. S. H. Walker, Mrs. Anna Schweissner and Mrs. Robert McFadden of Los Angeles; Miss Jennie McFadden and Mrs. James McFadden of Altadena; Mrs. G. E. Raitt, South Pasadena; Mrs. A. J. Raitt, Fullerton; Miss Ada McFadden, Mrs. John McFadden, Miss Flora McFadden, Miss Mabel McFadden, Mrs. Will Breckenridge, Miss Verdelle Breckenridge.

Entertaining Guests
Mrs. J. H. Rankin, 815 Spurgeon street, is entertaining as her house guest Miss Nina Titus of Linton, Indiana. Miss Titus is a niece of Mr. Rankin and expects to remain at the Rankin home until after August 1. During the first week in August, Mr. and Mrs. Rankin are planning an automobile trip to San Francisco on which they will be accompanied by Miss Titus. Mrs. Rankin has also had as her guest for the last ten days, Vernal Titus, brother of her niece. Mr. Titus is in the navy and has been spending his vacation in Santa Ana, leaving the first of this week to meet his ship at San Pedro.

W. C. T. U.
The four sections of the W. C. T. U. met Tuesday afternoon at the homes of Mrs. J. H. Rankin, Mrs. Laura Sturgeon, Mrs. C. L. Kleaver and Mrs. Jesse Albright, with the leaders in charge.

The subject, "Vacation Problems," was very interestingly discussed, after which a paper on community problems prepared by Mrs. Mary Coman, state editor of The White Ribbon, was read.

The next regular meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Anna Hill and will be held at Birch park.

Aid Society
Members of the United Brethren church anticipated a pleasant evening tomorrow, June 30, when the Aid society will entertain with a social at the church, corner of Shelton and Third streets.

The society has taken this method of raising the sum donated toward lifting the church mortgage which was so successfully accomplished recently, and will present an entertaining program followed by a social hour. Mrs. Cary Clemm is chairman of the committee on arrangements and the program will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m.

Prominent Young Couple Surprise Friends By Los Angeles Wedding

Evading all their friends, Miss Verian Cravath and George Platt motored to Los Angeles today where they planned to be married at 11 o'clock this morning by the Rev. Mr. Patterson of the South Hope street Presbyterian church.

There were to be no guests at the ceremony other than Mrs. Patterson, wife of the officiating minister, and the young couple were planning to leave at once for a honeymoon trip to the northern part of the state.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Platt will occupy a pleasant bungalow court apartment on West Fourth street, where they will receive their many friends.

Miss Cravath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Cravath, 1705 Bush street, is one of the most popular girls in the city while Mr. Platt is equally well known. Previous to the World War, he was connected with the Santa Fe and Salt Lake railroads. More recently he has been bookkeeper for Townsend and Medberry. He is a Legionnaire and during the war was supply sergeant for the 364th regiment, A. E. F.

PERSONALS
The many Santa Ana friends of Mrs. J. C. Galloway will be glad to learn that she has returned to Santa Ana to make her home here. Mrs. Galloway left Santa Ana to make her home in Modesto, California, and later in Princeton, Indiana. Spending the summer here in Santa Ana are two Princeton friends, Miss Helen Dean and Miss Isabel Milburn. Mrs. Galloway is at present at the Hill Apartments on Spurgeon street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cranston, who have been vacationing at Forest Home, are expected to return July 3.

Mrs. Ella Randall, of New York, who has been visiting for several months at the home of Mrs. S. L. Randall, on East Seventeenth street, will leave tomorrow for a trip to the Yosemite. She plans to visit San Francisco and Berkeley before returning to Santa Ana, where she will remain until after her niece, Miss Helen Randall, leaves for Oregon Agricultural College in September.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Fluor have returned to their home, 1514 North Main street, after a pleasant trip to San Francisco on the steamer Harvard.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Warner left this morning over the Santa Fe for a trip back east, stopping first at Fairfield, Illinois, at the home of Dr. Walter Revell. Any person desiring to write to them, can address them at that place, in care of Dr. Revell. They expect to visit Washington, New York, and Connecticut, and will return by way of Seattle and Portland.

Santa Ana friends of Miss Annette Deardorff will be interested in her graduation from the University of California. Miss Deardorff, who for many years made her home in this city and who has been teaching in Los Angeles for the last three years, has just been granted the degree of Bachelor of Arts by U. S. C. She plans to continue her teaching.

Mrs. E. J. Porter took her departure Tuesday for her home in Borden, Ind., concluding a ten months' visit with the family of her son, the Rev. F. T. Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Maier sr., have returned from a pleasant two weeks' outing at Big Bear.

Mrs. H. H. Reeves, 929 French street, is enjoying a visit from her small grandson, Master Channing Reeves, son of Edwin Reeves of Terra Bella. The young man will remain until his parents with their little baby daughter, join him later in the summer for a visit.

Francis Selway and his sister, Miss Bertha Selway, have received word of their acceptance at Pomona college. Both have been attending Santa Ana Junior college and will complete their plans to enter Pomona in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Annis, 605 Cypress street, son-in-law and their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Beal, left early in the week for an extensive motor trip which will take them to Oregon ere their return to Santa Ana.

Concluding a delightful week spent at the Yosemite, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Ashmore, Miss Florence McArthur and G. B. Ford returned to Santa Ana Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. H. E. Smith, 919 East Washington street, left this morning for Los Angeles where she will join her daughters, Mrs. C. F. Allen and Mrs. Carlson and her son-in-law, C. F. Allen in a vacation trip to Lake Tahoe and other northern points. The trip, to last nearly three weeks, will be made in the Smith car, although Mr. Smith will not accompany the party as he did on last summer's trip to the Yosemite.

To Occupy Presbyterian Manse During July
Dr. Robert Scott Calder, of St. Charles, Mo., yesterday took up his temporary residence in the manse of the First Presbyterian church at 303 Orange avenue. Dr. Calder with his family will spend the month of July in Santa Ana, during which time he will occupy the Presbyterian pulpit. The Calder's arrival in this city completes a twenty-one day automobile trip which was marked with interesting side trips. While enroute from St. Charles to Santa Ana the party visited the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and other points of interest. The party included Dr. and Mrs. Calder and their daughters, Priscilla and Helen.

Many Guests Gather When Aid Society Members Celebrate Birthdays

Productive of a happy afternoon are the birthday parties held every three months in the First Christian church community house when members of the Aid society whose birthdays have occurred in the interval, entertain at tea.

Yesterday marked the celebration of the birthdays of such a group, and nearly one hundred members and friends gathered for the affair.

The early afternoon was given over to a program arranged by many interesting features.

This was opened by a very pleasing piano group by Miss Veda Mitchell, who gave "Elegie" followed by Cadman's "The Land of the Sky Blue Water."

An entertaining trio composed of Lillian Miller, James Lash and Kenneth Kingley then sang "The Old Man and His Goat," and Miss Lorene Porter gave two of her clever readings, "When the Minister Comes to Tea" and "The Pickaninny and the Watahmalyn."

"Tom Sawyer" lived again for everybody when Miss Mary Arnold gave the story of his white washing the fence. Mrs. La Rue Maier then sang charmingly "I Sing to Thee" and "At Dawning" by Cadman, with Mrs. Ethel Thompson at the piano.

Little Miss Virginia Evans, a guest in the home of her aunt, Mrs. T. F. Ingrey, gave two entertaining readings, a little boy's monologue and a negro dialect which displayed a decided gift for so young a girl. Following her was little Harriet Morris in two readings both delightful and the second one, "The Wind," given in a most realistic manner.

The program was followed by a vocal group by Hazel Dauders Hummel who sang in her vivacious manner, two Riley numbers "Little Orphan Annie" and "Life" to the sympathetic accompaniment of Mrs. Thompson.

The conclusion of the program was followed by a happy social hour marked by the warm friendliness characteristic of the organization.

Delicious home made cake and brick ice cream was served by the refreshment committee of which Mrs. A. W. Gerrard was chairman.

The "birthday hostesses" were Mesdames A. V. Napier, A. W. Gerrard, Percy Head, Grace Lowman, Isabel Tucker, T. H. Smith, Mary Foster, E. M. Thomas, Mary Dunn, F. B. Taylor, Alice Gambill, E. E. Hammers, M. J. Alcock, Hawkins, G. W. Ford, R. A. Cashion, E. R. Halseworth, Good Adams, Vivia McCarter, Flora Smith, Mary Marrs, R. G. Hayes, Mary Armstrong, John Wood, Jennie Wheatley, Maud Tripp, D. S. Johnston, W. T. Mitchell, Alice Goshaw.

S. A. Women's Club
Happily spent was the day at Huntington Beach, Tuesday, when members of the Santa Ana Women's club and their husbands and a few invited friends gathered to enjoy the annual picnic with which the club draws its season's activities to a close.

The lattice pavilion of the beach was the chosen scene of the picnic dinner served at noon, and which numbered on its menu, every delicacy known to the club members.

Nearly fifty gathered around the tables for the feast which was followed by a group of clever and amusing toasts with Mrs. F. J. Marks as toastmistress. Responding with the gayest of sallies, were Mrs. C. P. Kryhl, Mrs. Charles Stanley, Mrs. R. Ruth Tiffany, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Finney, Dr. Evalene Peo, and the president, Mrs. C. T. Wells, who also presided over the brief business session, during which Mrs. G. B. Lamme, club historian, presented an interesting resume of the year's work. Great credit was given the club officers for the splendid manner in which the year's program had been carried out so successfully a conclusion.

These officers, officiating at their final meeting as a governing body, included Mrs. Wells, president; Dr. Evalene Peo, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Stanley, recording secretary; Mrs. J. J. Pyle, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. M. Akin, treasurer; Mrs. I. D. Annis, press correspondent; Mrs. F. J. Marks, parliamentarian; Mrs. G. B. Lamme, historian and Mrs. R. Ruth Tiffany, critic.

One of the delightful surprises of the afternoon was the presentation to Mrs. Wells of a beautiful oil painting from Mrs. George Slocum. The picture was the work of Mr. Slocum, whose artistic ability is well known. Mrs. Wells was equal to the occasion and responded gracefully to the presentation.

A pleasurable reunion came with the arrival of Mrs. Dell Andre, a member whose residence in Bravely has prevented her from attending any meetings of the club for five years. Mrs. Andre added to the interest of the occasion by relating a number of her experiences while in the Imperial Valley.

At the close of the afternoon, as the party wended its homeward way, a stop was made at the Huntington Beach Woman's club where a "country fair" was being conducted by the members. A very pleasant hour was spent in forming an acquaintance with members of the sister club.

Day at the Beach Yields Keen Pleasure to Sunday School Class

Swimming, lunching and yachting made up the program of the day, yesterday when Miss Arvilla Ball took her class of girls of the Methodist Sunday school to Balboa. Miss Ball's car was filled with little girls who upon their arrival at the beach lost no time in getting into the water. After a glorious swim they enjoyed luncheon on the sand and later it was announced that Mr. W. H. White, father of one of the little picnicers, had invited the party to go yachting with him. The remainder of the afternoon was spent on the ocean, much to the delight of the girls.

The members of the class are Beth Nunn, Celestine White, Alice Oliver, Elizabeth Skiles, Doris Dysart, and Francis Dunstan. Miss Ball was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Charles Ball and little daughter, Margaret. The yachting party included the above and Mrs. W. H. White, Mrs. J. T. Wilson, Mrs. Abbey and her small son and the Misses Jean and Merle Wilson.

Pleasant Dinner Celebrates Promotion
Salesmen and saleswomen of the Rice-Greisen company's Santa Ana office, were entertained at a sumptuous dinner recently, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Tiernan, 1213 West Fourth street.

The evening proved to be both glad and sad, as the announcement that the host and hostess would soon take their departure from Santa Ana, occasioned keen regret which was only partly offset by the pleasure in the promotion of Mr. Tiernan to the Los Angeles offices of the company.

Mr. Tiernan has labored faithfully to attain the position which has now come to him, and the good wishes of his many friends and business associates will follow him to his new field. His place in the local office will be taken by L. E. Orr, a capable and enterprising young businessman who has been in Santa Ana less than a year.

At the dinner which celebrated the double advancement, Mrs. Tiernan used masses of fragrant flowers with dainty candles to harmonize. Places were indicated for Mr. and Mrs. Tiernan, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Vandyke, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Pember, Miss Nora Nichols and C. E. Roberts.

Bridge Offers Diversion at Pleasant Party for Oakland Visitors
The presence in Santa Ana of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cox of Oakland who are guests in the home of Mrs. Cox's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Owens, 2618 North Main street, offered incentive for a delightful bridge party at which the Misses Harriet and Kathleen Owens entertained Monday night.

Pink sweetpeas, baby breath and maidenhair fern offered an attractive floral decoration for the pleasant affair and at the conclusion of the bridge games, Miss Arlie Cravath and Warren Hillyard with an identical number of points to their credit, were awarded the prizes, Miss Cravath receiving an attractive ginger jar, and Mr. Hillyard, a cigarette lighter in the form of a miniature Buddha.

Tea with cake, coffee and nuts offered a refreshing interlude and those greeting Mr. and Mrs. Cox, the honor guests, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanner, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Robinson, Mrs. John Swanner, Miss Prudence Macomber, Miss Arlie Cravath, Miss Marjorie Ellis, Miss Stella Hupp, Messrs. Warren Hillyard, Charles Walston, Geoffrey White, William Kneen and Maurice Enderle.

Missionary Society
Plans for assisting in the entertainment of delegates to the Woman's General Missionary society convention to be held in Los Angeles next year, were discussed yesterday at an interesting meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church.

The society met in the church parlors with Mrs. J. G. Kennedy occupying her place as president and Mrs. Cowan conducting the devotions.

The subject for the afternoon was "Important Events in Home Missions," and was in charge of Miss Adda Cowan. The work among the mountaineers was given by Mrs. M. M. Tidball.

Slides were distributed on which were articles to be read by members who thus represented some nationality where the word of God was preached.

Mrs. Noble spoke on the menace of Mormonism. Miss Joella Gowdy gave a very excellent talk on "Present Day Prophecy."

The hostess committee, composed of Miss Adda Cowan, Mrs. M. M. Tidball, Mrs. Noble and Miss Joella Gowdy, served delicious ice cream and wafers in the Barocca class dining room, where decorations of red, white and blue presented the patriotic colors.

A Santa Ana Merchant Arrived in New York---

—He was on his annual buying trip. "By George," said he, as he stepped off the train at the Grand Central station, "here I'm in New York City, 3,000 miles from Santa Ana, and today is my wife's birthday."

—Before even attending to the urgent business for which he came, he began casting about for some way out of the predicament caused by his forgetfulness.

—He chanced by a florist shop. A card in the window read "Flowers by wire to any city within two hours."

—He did not linger without. A few words to the florist and his face beamed again with California sunshine. He went happily on his way. He knew that within two hours his wife would receive a gorgeous box of flowers from the Flower and Gift Shop, through the F. T. D.—a floral service guaranteed by over 3,000 members all over the world.

CLINE, KELLY BOUT
AT DELHI 'FLIVVER'Fredericks and Dunn In Curtain Raiser Stage Thrilling Fight

Gene Cline-Spike Kelly, draw. Jack Martin beat Kid Shelton, decision.

K. O. Swail-Dick Gard, draw. Johnny Kelly stopped Henry Gatten, fourth.

Al Fredericks-Charley Dunn, draw.

When you are sitting around the poker table, going like a million, and you get a ten, jack, queen and king straight, open at either end, to draw to you get that grand and glorious feelin'. You make that one card draw and then the deuce of spades comes flopping into your mitt. It's a horrible climax to a good chance.

That's what happened out at Delhi last night. If there had never been a main event the card would have been a honey. But that Cline-Kelly spectacle was miserable, terrible. It was the deuce of spades.

They may have tried to make it a fight but that let them out. Kelly made it worse by pulling some "anxiety" stuff after "Chick" Brown called it a draw. "Chick" couldn't have done anything else. Neither of the boys struck a real blow throughout the sparring match.

Kid Shelton, of Denver, long and lean, worried Jack Martin for a couple of rounds with his snaky waltz around the ring in the semi-windup. Martin couldn't get to him to make him slug it out until the third and last cantos. When he got started Shelton began to wish it was all over. Martin easily copped the verdict.

K. O. Swail earned a half-line decision over Dick Gard but he only received a draw for his trouble. Gard scored a clean knock-down early in the first round but the Santa Ana boxer more than made up for it during the rest of the bout. He hit the Huntington Beach battler five times while he was getting punched once.

Henry Gatten looked to be the winner over Johnny Conley until about the middle of the fourth round. He sent his man reeling to the canvas for the count of nine in the second spasm but was unable to finish him.

Conley came to life in the last frame, battered Gatten all around the ring and finally dropped him with a right to the jaw. The local scrapper wasn't out but he stayed on the floor one second too long and Referee Brown counted him out.

The curtain-raiser boys, Al Fredericks and Charley Dunn won the marbles last night.

It isn't often that the bugs are on their feet at the tap of the last bell yelling like a bunch of loons but that is what happened in the Fredericks-Dunn affair.

Up to the fourth round it was an even go. Early in the last round Dunn, working like a little dynamo, smashed the Delhi idol all around the place with rights and lefts. It looked like curtains but Fredericks suddenly snapped out of it, forced the fighting and earned for himself a draw.

When the bell ended it, Dunn was hanging on the ropes in his corner, reeling like a drunk man. Had Fredericks landed one of his hay-makers while they were in the middle of the floor he would have won via the k. o. route.

INTEREST KEEN IN SATURDAY CONTEST
AT COUNTRY CLUB

Golfers out at the country club are taking a lot of practice shots these days. There's a contest coming off Saturday afternoon which bids fair to bring out noon which bids fair to bring out one of the largest crowds ever gathered at the club and there is going to be some hot competition in the numerous events arranged by President C. G. Twist.

Saturday's event will be similar to that held two weeks ago for beginners. There are to be driving, ironing, approaching and putting contests and the entry list promises to equal the roster of regular golfers. A small entrance fee is to be charged.

President Twist was greatly elated today over the fact that Robert Reid, well known Buick distributor (both Mr. Reid and the Buick are well known), had agreed to enter the event.

BENNY LOSING FORM

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, June 29.—Because one of the smartest old heads in the boxing game and one of the ring's greatest boxers—Jack Britton —made him look bad, the folks are figuring that Benny Leonard has one foot off the lightweight throne.

Implements of doping are being used to figure that the lightweight champion has taken on two good chances of losing his crown in his fight with Rocky Kansas at Michigan City, on the "Fourth" and later in the month against Lew Tendler in Jersey City.

Leonard blames his poor showing against Britton on indoor training.

He prepared for that fight in a New York gymnasium to help his trainer get started in business.

Indoor training, especially in New York, long ago has been proved to be bad stuff. Jack Dempsey tried it for Bill Brennan and Tom Gibbons tried it for Harry Greb and the results were unmistakable.

Any day in the week Rocky Kansas is a tough proposition for any lightweight, but Leonard should have no more trouble with him than he has had in the past.

Against Tendler it will be a different proposition. By long odds the Philadelphia southpaw is the most dangerous contender in the lot and he will have lots of backing to beat the champion even if they are to go through one of those no-decision things.

With two hard fights in his system, Leonard ought to approach his old-time form against Tendler and if his footwork is anything near what it used to be, Tendler's deadly left will have a hard time getting

Rumblings are coming from Jersey that they don't want the Leonard-Tendler thing over there and

Richard may be forced to switch the fight to the New York velodrome.

Charges no fund check

Complaint was on file today at the district attorney's office against

R. T. Dalton, of Santa Ana, charging him with issuing a no-fund check for $1.65 to G. H. Miller. The alleged offense was said to have been committed June 23.

RESUME TOURNAMENT
CONTESTS TONIGHT

The Santa Ana straight pool championship tourney today was scheduled to be resumed at the Valencia billiard parlors at 7 o'clock tonight.

The sensation of the first round play is looked for when Todd Lee and Jack Brown get under way in their match. Both are regarded as among the best players entered and the contest should be close.

K. Van Slyck and W. Patterson will play at 8 o'clock and Weston and Davis are to meet at 9 o'clock.

Here Are Heroes of Yesterday's Battles

Yesterday's Hero—Earl Smith smacked a long double in the ninth inning, driving in the run that gave the Senators a 4 to 0 victory over the Yanks. Walter Johnson completed 27 innings without being scored on.

John Collins hit two singles, a double and a triple in four times up and helped the Red Sox trim the Athletics, 4 to 2, and escape from the cellar.

The Braves scored four runs in the eighth and one in the ninth and won from the Brooklyn Robins 5 to 4.

The Phils. beat the Giants, 8 to 5, in the first game and dropped the second, 8 to 3.

Kolp let the Indians down with four scattered hits and the Browns won 9 to 0, after dropping the first two games of the series.

Leverett let the Tigers down with three feeble hits and the White Sox won, 4 to 1, going into third place.

Pittsburgh scored three runs in the sixth and four in the seventh and beat the Cubs, 7 to 2.

To be sure of untroubled enjoyment of your car over the Fourth, prepare yourself now with Fisk Cords to replace those tires about which you have a doubt.

The husky, extra size Fisk, with its over-strong construction, will not only keep you free from tire trouble on the holiday, but will settle your mind as far as tires are concerned for all the rest of the year.

Feel Weak, Tired, "All Played Out?"

Does the least exertion tire you out? Do you feel "blue" and worried, suffer dragging backache, headache and dizziness? Too many women blame so-called "female trouble" for this unhappy state instead of weak kidneys, which so often are the cause. You must act quickly to prevent more serious trouble. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands of weak, tired women. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A case in Santa Ana: Mrs. E. S. Burdick, 1039 W. Third St., says: "I had kidney complaint and became run down. My back often ached as if it would break. My kidneys acted irregularly and annoyed me at night. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got some from Park's Drug store. They gave me relief at once, regulating my kidneys and benefiting me in every way."

FUN STUNTS MARK LIONS' CLUB MEET

Dr. Clayton Lane, as chairman of today's meeting of the Santa Ana Lions club at St. Ann's Inn, provided a lively impromptu program, supplied by club members, upon whom he called without previous notice to contribute stunts.

The fun was introduced when W. E. Leecraft, James Livesey Jr. and Robert Gram were called upon to "produce harmony" in the rendition of vocal numbers which the chairman selected from the Kiwanis song book.

Leecraft, as a prelude to the stunt, rattled off a lively air on the piano. Instantly some one at a wedding breakfast at the Inn called upon Leecraft for a wedding march, and the pianist excellently played Lohengrin's march.

Declared to be men who charged the highest fees in their respective lines of business, Dr. R. P. Yenke, physician; Ernest Winbiger, undertaker; William Lorenz, jeweler; B. Van Dien, building materials; Thomas Willits, automobile batteries and accessories; Dr. H. J. Howard, osteopath and Lester Carden, clothier, were called upon to tell why they deemed their services worth more than those of competitors. Some of the answers were very clever and provoked a great deal of mirth.

S. B. Kaufman was called on to recite the song, "I Love You California" and John A. Henderson read "Things To Forget."

Club members looked forward to the ham bake and dancing party to be given by the club this evening at Orange county park.

NAB BELGIAN COUPLE ON LIQUOR COMPLAINT

C. Brulez, a Belgian residing in a mile east of Buena Park, today began serving in the county jail here a 90-day sentence imposed upon him by Justice William French, Fuller-ton, in connection with a charge that he manufactured liquor.

Officers who raided Brulez' place early last night arrested him and his wife, charging the latter with selling liquor. Mrs. Brulez, who is ill, was unable to appear in court.

The couple have seven children. Sheriff C. E. Jackson said a number of his deputies conducted the raid. They seized 150 bottles of home brew, they said, in addition to a considerable quantity of kegs and parts of an alleged still.

GROWERS INTERESTED IN NEW SELLING BODY

Orange county fruit growers were expressing interest today in the announcement of the formation of a new national selling organization, operated under the auspices of the American Farm Bureau federation. The Federation of Fruit Growers, formed several years ago by the committee of 21, has taken over the North American Fruit association, a privately operated selling group. This eliminates the latter association, and places the farm bureau body in a position to dispose of the products of the entire country. According to those familiar with the situation, the new plan will reduce competition among the co-operative selling organizations of the country, since virtually all of the smaller state selling bodies were subsidiary to one of the two groups joined.

Charging that her husband deserted her May 16, less than a month after their wedding, Mary Romero had today filed suit against Frank Romero for separate maintenance. She was represented by Attorney Clara R. Cushman.

The Romeros were married in Santa Ana on April 24 of this year.

Of 243,335 horses and mules with the American forces during the war, 65,682 perished.

ECZEMA VANISHES IN FEW DAYS

Mighty, Powerful Antiseptic Prescription Stops Itching Instantly, and by Use Ulcers, Bolls, Abscesses and Carbuncles Are Quickly Healed. Now that tens of thousands know that Moore's Emerald Oil will reduce ugly, dangerous varicose veins to normal, we want them to know that this wonderfully effective agent will dry up eczema eruptions in a few days and cause the scales to drop off and disappear.

It acts the same way with any skin disease, such as barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin troubles. So powerful and penetrating is Moore's Emerald Oil that it is absorbed; gorges and veins are made to disappear and abscesses, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and open sores are healed in a few days. Moore's Emerald Oil is not a patent medicine, but is a surgeon's prescription that for years has been successfully used in private and hospital practice. All pharmacists dispense it, and complete directions for home use come with each bottle. Adv.

COUNTY MAN HAULS IN 14 TROUT FROM YOSEMITE STREAMS

H. E. Carnor, member of the Anaheim board of education and prominent resident of the Katella district, has come forward as a defender of the streams in the Yosemite valley as havens for fishermen.

Writing from the Yosemite where he and his family are spending their vacation, Carnor declared that while the popular supposition has been that trout fishing there has been more or less nil, he had great success in his first endeavor.

"I managed to catch fourteen good-sized trout," he said, "mostly of rainbow or Eastern brook variety. One catch measured fourteen inches and another twelve inches."

SEA GIVES UP BODY OF DROWNED YOUTH

An inquest was held today over the body of W. Leonard Capelli, 16, which washed ashore at Huntington Beach early today, ending a search that had been made since the lad was drowned Sunday at Anaheim Landing.

City Marshal Burton E. Whittington, of Seal Beach, notified the county authorities today that the body had been recovered. Coroner Charles D. Brown immediately left for Huntington Beach to hold the inquest.

It was understood that the body would be removed to Los Angeles, after the inquest, for burial. Young Capelli lived at 409 West 54th street, Los Angeles, and was a member of a picnic party at Anaheim Landing Sunday. He was carried out to sea by a rip-tide while in bathing. His mother was a witness to the tragedy.

NEW PASTOR IS ASSIGNED TO METHODISTS

GARDEN GROVE, June 29.—At the yearly conference held in Los Angeles last week, the Rev. F. A. Ames of the Free Methodist church here was sent to Orange and the Rev. W. F. Hellman of Pomona will fill his place; the Rev. Mr. Hellman and his wife will move into the parsonage this week. The Rev. Mr. Ames had been here for the past three years and has made many friends in this vicinity.

No services were held at the M. E. church Sunday evening. The Epworth League joined with the B. Y. P. U. and held a fine young people's meeting in the Baptist church.

A large attendance was out to the last revival meeting by the Rev. James Holmes. The Rev. Mr. Holmes also sang the beautiful solo, "Holy City."

Commencing next Sunday evening Union meetings will be held during the months of July and August. The service will be held at the M. E. Church next Sunday evening with a patriotic service. The Old Soldiers, Soldiers of the Spanish War and of the late World War will all sit in a body.

A large attendance was out to hear the lecture given by Rev. James Holmes at the Baptist church Monday evening, stereoscopic views and a lecture on the mission work at Newfoundland, Labrador, proved very interesting.

170 CHILDREN STUDY BIBLE AT SCHOOL

GARDEN GROVE, June 29.—Between 160 and 170 children are now enrolled in the Vacation Bible school.

Miss Lella Chaffee, who returned last week from Honolulu, where she has been teaching for the past year, spoke to the children Monday on her work and of the schools at that place.

Dr. C. C. Violet gave a fifteen-minute talk on "Health" Tuesday morning.

J. M. Woodworth, president of the First National bank, is to give a talk one day this week.

SCHOOL SUPPLY BIDS TO BE OPENED JULY 19

July 19, at 12 o'clock noon, the board of education will receive bids for a large amount of school supplies for the coming year. The full list of supplies may be seen by those interested, at the office of the board, 322 Spurgeon building.

Included in the list are auto, forge, machine and woodshop supplies; miscellaneous hardware supplies; typewriters, adding machines, sewing machines, lockers, filing cabinets, paper cutters and school furniture.

The cost of clothing a soldier in the United States army is $180.

Legal Notice
The Board of Education will receive sealed bids until 12 o'clock noon on July 19, 1922, for auto, forge, machine and woodshop supplies and equipment, miscellaneous hardware supplies, typewriters, adding machines, sewing machines, lockers, filing cabinets, paper cutters and school furniture. Bids to be opened at 1 o'clock on above date.

ACTIVITIES OF COSTA MESA RESIDENTS

COSTA MESA, June 29.—Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Russell and Mr. and Mrs. Hoover motored to Laguna Saturday to attend the opening of Arch Beach tavern. They report an unusually good time.

Miss Marie Parttman is spending a two weeks' vacation in Pasadena with her cousin, Miss Birdie Southland.

Dr. and Mrs. Houston and Miss Alice Plummer motored to San Diego Saturday, returning home Sunday. They were accompanied home by a bright-eyed little boy, Edward Orear Meador, who will make his home with Miss Plummer.

Roy King spent Friday night at the home of his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Derby, and on Saturday went on a camping trip with them to Camp Happy, returning home Sunday.

Buys Acreage
The Te Winkle and Floyd real estate office sold ten acres of land on the Santa Ana heights tract to C. S. Fox. The acreage is one of the choice lots on Twenty-third street.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Robinson and son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Robinson, of Long Beach, motored down to spend Sunday with Mrs. D. Robinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Baker. Mrs. Robinson remained here to spend a few days.

Friends of J. N. Putnam will be glad to know that he is recovering very nicely after several months' illness.

Mrs. O. H. Mayhew, of Ontario, spent the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Saddler. Also Mrs. Saddler's niece, Miss Georgia Holbrook, of Seelye, Calif., spent the week-end with her.

Eugene and James Thomas, two small sons of Judge Thomas, of Santa Ana, are spending a few weeks' vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Matthews while their parents are back East.

Enjoy Motor Tour
Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Russell and little daughter, accompanied by Mrs. Russell's aunt, Mrs. Ida Lane, of New York, returned home Friday, after motoring to San Francisco by the coast route, returning by way of Santa Cruz, where they crossed Monterey bay on a ferry and came back home also by the coast route.

They were gone six days, motored 1100 miles and had absolutely no trouble, never to change a tire, so Mr. Russell reports that he is quite well pleased with his car.

Mrs. Harry Carney and her son, Homer, of Taft, motored down to Costa Mesa Saturday to visit with Mrs. Roy Lowmes and her father, A. H. Smith. On Sunday Mrs. Carney, Mrs. Lowmes and Homer Carney were dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Lewis Dixon, of Balboa.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robinson motored to the San Gabriel canyon to spend the week-end.

There was a mistake in the Costa Mesa news Tuesday evening in regard to the daily vacation Bible school when it was stated. Miss Mary Stroud is to be superintendent in the Santa Ana Bible school. Instead of Miss Stroud it is to be Miss Mary Kerfoot.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sterling, of Calipatria, Calif., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Te Winkle. They are old friends of the Te Winkles.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Williamson are motoring through Owens valley, Lake Tahoe and San Francisco and will return home in July by the coast route.

Mrs. M. B. Armstrong spent Friday and Saturday in Burbank.

William Bradley, formerly of Canada, but now of Los Angeles, is visiting with his aunt, Mrs. M. B. Armstrong.

Sunny Italy and summer skies! Titled lives and living heat! And a little group of humans, mustering among them all the loves and hates and passions of the ages to wreck the happiness of a beautiful American girl who had lost true love behind in Kokomo, Indiana, in her mad quest for a life.

This is the substance of Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson's "The Man From Home" which was adapted for the screen by Ouida Bergere and produced by her husband, George Fitzmaurice, in the very settings of which the authors wrote. And the craftsmanship of Roy Overhough, the camera man, is reflected in the finest manner possible. Seeing the picture is like actually being in Italy for the time being.

Many historical points are shown, among them being the famous Villa Borghese in Rome with its beautiful gardens furnishing a setting for some fine exterior scenes. Another well-known view, overlooking the bay of Naples shows the bench upon which Enrico Caruso sat day after day in the hope of regaining his health. There are views in Naples, Sorrento and Capri and many exquisite photographic bits that lend their charm to the feature which is sheer drama with just a bit of comedy to provide reaction occasionally.

The story of "The Man From Home" is too well known to bear repetition here. Sufficient to say screen version is produced in Fitzmaurice's usual finished style, the cast is well chosen, the individual performers are in keeping with the high standard that marks all of the director's works and the picture is well worth viewing.

The Brown Saxophone sextette lives up to its reputation as a premier musical organization and last night's audience kept the musicians on the stage until they were virtually "all in" as the leader explained when there was an insistent demand for "more." This act alone is worth the admittance fee.

The entire bill is to be repeated tonight.

COAST HIGHWAY WORK TO BEGIN SOON, CLAIM

That there is possibility of construction work on the first section of the coast boulevard through Orange county getting under way by September 1, was revealed today with announcement by W. W. Patch, division engineer in the Los Angeles office of the state highway commission, that bids for building the section between the city limits of Long Beach and Huntington Beach would be advertised within the next two weeks.

Patch said that he expected bids for the work to be opened about August 1, with probability of actual construction starting a month later. Phil Stanton has agreed to give a right of way through property at Seal Beach, according to J. L. McBride, superintendent of county highways.

The improvement along the beach will be a twenty-foot wide pavement of six-inch concrete, Patch said.

According to the commission, progress on the boulevard work has been retarded by an injunction suit filed by Scott Alexander, of Long Beach, who sought to force the commission to route the boulevard along the beach between Long Beach and Naples instead of the route selected through Naples, and failure of Orange county to secure deeds to other rights of way needed.

Y BOYS PREPARE TO LEAVE FOR ISLAND CAMP

Excitement was at fever pitch today, as seventy-two Orange county boys prepared to leave at 7:15 a. m. tomorrow for the annual Y. M. C. A. camp at Catalina Island.

With the entry list closed this afternoon and final preparations virtually completed today, all was ready for the departure.

Nearly four-score boys will meet at the Y. M. C. A. building here tomorrow morning at 7:15. Others throughout the county will depart from other meeting points at the same time.

The trip to Wilmington will be made in automobiles. From there the journey to Catalina will be made by steamship. The boys are asked to bring a lunch with them, because they will reach the camp too late for dinner.

Final instructions were sent to each boy yesterday. The letter included a list of the clothing necessary, and recommended a few other incidentals which might be necessary.

Ban Fireworks
No fireworks will be allowed on the trip, but the boys may purchase twenty-five cents' worth from stores at the island.

Parents who desire to write to their boys should address mail to Camp Shaw, Avalon, California.

Every effort is being made to make the camp one of the most successful in the history of the Orange county Y.

The daily schedule outlined will afford sufficient activity and recreation for the most lively boy. The program follows:

Six-fifteen a. m., reveille, setting-up exercises, morning dip and flag-raising.

Breakfast at 7 A. M.
Seven a. m., breakfast; 8 a. m., group Bible study; 9:30, inspection; 9:45, athletics and nature study; 11:15, morning swim; 12:15 p. m., dinner; 1 p. m., rest period; 2 p. m., hikes, games, fishing, etc.; 4:30 p. m., afternoon swim; 6 p. m., supper; 8 p. m., camp-fire session; 9:30 taps, and nine hours sleep.

Following are the boys who have registered to attend:

MISS VIOLA HILL IS REPORTED IMPROVED

The condition of Miss Viola Hill, who recently underwent an operation at the Community hospital here, was reported as greatly improved by hospital attendants today.

Miss Hill, who is well known in Santa Ana and Orange county, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Hill, 1102 Spurgeon street, and has been active in missionary work in China. She has been identified with a school for girls at Ningpo.

Miss Hill, it was said, probably will be able to leave the hospital by July 5. She will then rest a few weeks at her home. She plans to return to China in August, sailing from Vancouver August 25.

Letters received by Miss Hill from Ningpo conveyed the information that a new high school has been erected there. She is anxious to return to her duties.

DON'T NEGLECT KIDNEY TROUBLES!

Dropsy, Diabetes and Apoplexy Most Dreaded Diseases

Neglect of any derangements of the kidneys is dangerous in the extreme. Kidney trouble is Nature's warning against the approach of Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy and apoplexy—all diseases that are eventually fatal in their effects. Read what Mr. A. Fillinger, R. F. D. No. 2, Wheeler, Ill., says:

"I was a great sufferer from kidney and liver derangements for several years. The pains in the back were almost more than I could endure, and the whole digestive system was upset. Though many medicines were tried, I never obtained permanent relief until I used Dr. A. W. Chase's K-L Pills. It is a pleasure to recommend so excellent a medicine."

You can buy Dr. A. W. Chase's remedies at all drug stores. To be sure of getting the genuine, see that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every box. This trade mark is your protection against substitutes and imitations. —Advertisement.

MERE WOMAN 'SPOOFS' COX AS MARRIAGE IS PERFORMED

Scratching his head with a reflective forefinger, Justice J. B. Cox was wondering today whether some of his derisive friends were right; that after a long and victorious judicial career he had finally been marked as a sack holder—and by a mere woman, at that.

"You see judge," Imogene Newman told him, just after she had become Imogene Hereford, late yesterday, "we didn't know we were going to get married when we started out. The idea was rather sudden. And we didn't bring any money along. Wake didn't even bring his coat, you see. Now you give me your address, judge, and we'll send the fee to you."

The judge was mildly suspicious, but put it down as eccentricity, particularly as he remembered that after Wake, during the wedding ceremony, had answered "I do," Imogene had remarked, "Well, I will, if he keeps his word."

So he wrote down his address and Mr. and Mrs. Hereford departed for their home in Los Angeles. Then somebody told the judge that he had been "done."

Hereford and his prospective bride, before visiting the justice, had, of course, called on County Clerk Joe Backs for a license.

"Why was it, when we asked persons the way to Santa Ana they always laughed at us," Hereford wanted to know. "D'you suppose they knew we were coming to get married?"

Hereford next asked where they could find someone to marry them and was told that Justice Cox could officiate if wanted.

"Say, he's the judge that fined me $10 for speeding not long ago," commented Hereford.

"He did, did he," spoke up his bride with a practical glitter in her eye. "Well we'll just get some of that back right now. Come on Wake."

And she led Wake toward the justice court.

C. C. Chapman Bares Plans for Modern Structure at Oil City

WILL COST $175,000

Other Improvements Under Way Show Progress at Hustling Center

Initial steps in the plan of C. C. Chapman, Fullerton capitalist, to give that city one of the finest office buildings in the Southland, were to be taken this week when workmen will begin excavations on the lot owned by Chapman at the southeast corner of Spadra road and Wilshire avenue.

According to Chapman, he has accepted plans drawn by M. Eugene Durfee for a five-story business building, to cost at least $175,000, exclusive of the lot. The design of the building will be an adaptation of the Italian Renaissance, and all exterior windows on the street fronts will be of plate glass.

The building will be of steel construction, with terra cotta finish, and will be built on a lot 75 by 120 feet. Eighteen thousand dollars worth of steel will be used, Chapman said, and $15,000 will be spent for terra cotta used in construction.

Lower right—Residence of John King, on Orange avenue, near McFadden street, nearing completion; estimated cost, $6500.

ADDS TO HIS CITRUS HOLDINGS NEAR GROVE

Peter Stofel, who owns a bearing valencia orange grove north-west of Garden Grove, this week increased his citrus acreage by purchasing eight and a half acres of two-year-old valencias from R. B. Woodside. The new grove adjoins the old.

James noonday luncheons. Tasty.

Three hundred thousand dollars invested in lots, and residences completed or under construction costing upwards of $70,000—this is the record for four months in the subdivisions of the McFadden tract on South Main street, according to figures compiled and submitted today by A. B. Roussele, sales manager for McFadden Home Tracts Nos. 1 and 2 and owner and subdivider of McFadden Tract No. 3.

The phenomenal growth of Santa Ana is forecast in the activities in these tracts, Roussele declared. He believes that the trend of expansion in Santa Ana will be a duplicate of other communities near the coast where the development has been toward the ocean. Residence improvements completed or under way on the tracts include the following:

Great Building Activity

George Preble, Hobart and Main streets, $5000; Roussele, duplex house near Main and McFadden, $15,000; J. T. Kearns, McFadden and Orange, $4000; John King, near corner McFadden and Orange, $6500; J. C. Sudley, Main and Edinger, $4500; Dr. J. H. Simpson, Oxford and Cypress, $3500; George Bunting, four houses on Main and Oxford, $16,000; M. J. Henderson, Orange and Edinger, $2500; George Derby, Main and Edinger, $2500; Boylan Brothers, Main and Edinger, gasoline station, $2000; A. Best, Main, between Ponoma and Berkeley, $2500; M. T. Trowbridge, near Main and Edinger, $2500.

Roussele is credited with being one of the men who have opened the gateway for Santa Ana to grow toward the sea. Engaged in Los Angeles for seventeen years in subdivision work and investments, he became interested in Santa Ana because of his belief that the city is due for big advance—an advance even greater than that made in the past two years.

See Big Future
 "Supported by a rich agricultural back country, oil development and proximity to a big future harbor, Santa Ana is destined to become one of the big cities of the Southland," said Roussele today.

"This is the favored spot of the world, and I believe I know what I am saying when I make this statement, for I have recently returned from a visit to most every famous resort in Europe. I compared winter and summer climates of the foreign lands to our climatic conditions here and to my mind the climate here the year around is far ahead of that of the European sections famed for their climate."

Only four months ago the McFadden tract was an alfalfa ranch. It had been farmed for thirty years or more by the late James McFadden and his heirs.

Returning the first of the year from a tour of European countries, Roussele realized more than ever the advantages of this immediate vicinity, and entered actively into subdivision work, concluding negotiations that resulted in the subdivision of the McFadden tract, with himself as owner of the lower end of the tract, now known as Tract No. 3.

Improvements Extensive
 Thousands of dollars are being spent in grading streets and installing sidewalks, curbs, sewer and water, with most of the work well advanced on all three tracts. Roussele has only sixty lots left in Tract No. 3 and he reports the sale of eleven in the past week.

35 LOTS IN 30 DAYS IS TRACT SALES RECORD

Floyd Scott, assistant farm advisor, who is acting as sales manager for C. A. Price, subdivider of Country Club Gardens, on South Main street, today announced that thirty-five lots have been sold in thirty days, and declared that interest is keen in the forty-acre tract placed on the market by Price.

"This property," said Scott, who is on three weeks' vacation, "is ideally located, being directly in the line of the proposed sloe-strung strip to the harbor, and interest is keen in the choice lots offered to the public by Price."

Price, who decided to locate in Santa Ana after an extensive tour of Southern California, is a subdivider and builder of wide experience.

"He believes that the South Main street district will develop very rapidly, and the marked interest of public proves that his judgment is sound. Thirty-five lots were sold in thirty days."

Associated with Scott in the management of the tract are John Waters, former assistant farm advisor here, but now connected with the William Wilson company in Pasadena, and Herbert Timmons, well known in Santa Ana and Orange county.

"The outstanding feature of the Country Club Gardens tract," said Scott, "is that Price is placing restrictions on purchasers, making it incumbent upon them to erect homes to cost at least $2500. This will insure the erection of some of the prettiest and most substantial homes in Orange county."

Many Improvements
 "At the same time, Price is installing an expensive ornamental lighting system, cement walks, graded and gravelled streets, and will add other improvements that will make this tract one of the most desirable residential sections in the county. It is in the logical path of Santa Ana's growth and an early investment means a good return as the values increase."

"Tennis courts will be included in the many modern features and an attractive rock wall has been built along the Main street frontage. The lights will soon be turned on and everything possible will be done to make Country Club Gardens all that the name implies."

TOTS SCRATCHED BY DOG GIVEN TREATMENT

Pasteur's treatment today was being given to Evelyn Grisct, 7, and Loren Grisct, 3, children of Eugene Grisct, rancher at the corner of Edinger and Greenville roads, who received scratches from a pet rat terrier dog which had rabies.

The children were clawed about the feet a week ago today. After the dog, "Sport," died last Tuesday, its head was sent to the state board of medical examiners, who pronounced the animal as having a marked case of rabies.

Treatment to the children will be given in twenty-one daily hypodermic administrations, the attending physician announced. Their case is not considered serious.

PACKING PLANT CHIEFS SEE BANNER SEASON AHEAD HERE

Within the machine-lined buildings of two big Santa Ana industrial plants, the California Packing corporation and the Taylor cannery, company officials today mapped campaign plans for one of the most strenuous seasons in their history.

Indications today were that the busy work of handling their share of the giant Orange county crops would be in full swing by the middle of July and would continue uninterrupted well into November.

Approximately 350 persons will be employed by these two concerns during the rush season.

The combined payrolls will run close to $7500 a week, it was believed.

Preparations to handle extra large crops of Kentucky Wonder string beans, California chili peppers and pimientos were under way today at the California Packing corporation's plant, Manager C. C. Cornett said.

Rush Preparations.
 Ten men now are at work cleaning the big plant, getting machinery into shape and doing hundreds of little tasks necessary before the active campaign is begun.

Packing operations on string beans will be under way between July 5 and 10, Cornett announced.

The plant will employ about 175 women and between 50 and 75 men at the outset. As needed, that number will be increased from time to time. The total number of employees may reach 250, it was said.

"The string bean crop this year," Cornett declared, "will be virtually double that of two years ago. Last year we did not handle beans. We expect to pack 15,000 cases this season."

"We will begin operations on the California chili crop near the middle of August, with prospects of making 20,000 cases, as against 12,000 cases last year."

To Pack 40,000 Cases.
 "The pimiento work will be under way about the middle of September. We will pack about 40,000 cases, which will require operations to continue well into November."

Our payroll will vary between $400 and $8000 a week with the general average for the campaign about $6000 a week. The total amount paid out for labor alone will be in the neighborhood of $75,000, as against $60,000 last year. The payroll two years ago reached $121,000, but that was when wages were extremely high and when we handled an enormous pimiento crop.

"Wages will be virtually the same as they were last season. Women as usual, will be paid by piece work on the basis of a minimum wage scale of $16 a week."

While the Taylor cannery is busy at the present time with the blackberry, loganberry and strawberry crops on hand or coming next week, the real rush will not be on before the apricot work begins early in July, Fred Taylor, manager, said today.

Fifty Per cent Increase.
 The apricot canning operations will last two weeks, it is expected. The plant will handle fifty tons, as against twenty-five tons last season.

Approximately 100 women will receive employment at the plant. When this work is out of the way, the company will begin canning peaches and pears.

NAME ARCHITECT FOR CITY HALL AT FULLERTON

With the selection of W. H. Austin, of Long Beach, as architect, members of the board of trustees of the city of Fullerton today were making active plans for the erection of a modern city hall in that city.

According to members of the board, the proposed building will cost in the neighborhood of $125,000 and it is expected that construction will start late this summer or early in the fall.

Included in the building will be a basement for use of the G. A. R., the American Legion and other organizations. The structure will also house the central fire station and offices for the police department and all city employees.

The new city hall will be built, in large part, from funds now in possession of the city. Fully $75,000 will be available, it was said, and it was not thought it would be necessary to issue bonds to cover the completion of the structure.

It was considered probable, however, that the city officials would vote to authorize erection of a new public library at a cost of approximately $90,000. It is proposed to

PLAN $25,000 BRICK BLOCK ON W. FOURTH

J. D. Parsons plans to erect a two-story brick building at 414 West Fourth street, it was learned today.

The wooden building there will be removed. This structure, a landmark of Santa Ana, was the original storeroom of the Parsons grocery operated here for years, a part of which time the enterprise was known as the Parsons and McNaught grocery.

Plans will be drawn shortly and construction will begin in two months, according to J. Fred Parsons, nephew of J. D. Parsons. Tenants, including H. H. Gardner, irrigation appliances, will be given advance notice to vacate.

The lot has a frontage of 30 feet on Fourth and a depth of 105 feet. The ground floor will be devoted to a business room, a tenant for which has been obtained. The upper story will be given over to apartments, and will offer an enlargement to the Parsons Apartments.

The new building will cost between $20,000 and $25,000, it was estimated.

GREAT PROSPERITY SHOWS WONDER FUTURE IN STORE FOR COUNTY, SAYS TATUM

The eyes of C. C. Tatum, of Los Angeles, president of the California Real Estate association, are fixed upon Orange county, "the richest little county in the world."

President Tatum today issued a call to would-be residents of Santa Ana or other Orange county towns, to purchase property and build homes.

The head executive of the realty organization is in a position to have a broad outlook upon the property conditions throughout California, and from his vantage point he has picked Orange county as one of the most advantageous spots for property owners in the entire state.

"The California Real Estate association is advocating the purchasing of property anywhere in California at this time," Tatum said today, "yet I wish I might place especial emphasis on the advantages of Orange county investment."

Tells Big Advantage

"Paramount among the advantages offered in your little county is the fact that it is the richest in per capita production in the world, and that this fact tends toward rapid increases in land values. To the investor this offers an obvious attraction."

Tatum made it clear that it is to the home-seeker that he directs the major portion of his advice, however.

"There are countless persons coming to California to make their homes."

"These folks have heard glowing reports of Orange county, and are prepared to make investments, if the propositions are properly presented."

"To them I would say, 'own your own home.'"

"Nothing is surer or safer than the certain gain in value of a property located home site, with attractive buildings located on it."

Cites Speedy Sales

The realty official called attention to the speed with which subdivisions on the outskirts of the city are being disposed of, and recommended the purchase of lots there, upon which residences may be erected.

"Los Angeles and other cities have clearly demonstrated the fact that where a subdivision becomes popular, it rises phenomenally in value, until in a very short time it is a fine residential portion of the city."

"Santa Ana's rapid and consistently healthy growth is, in my belief, an indication of its continued prosperity."

"The fact that the precedent of a summer slump in building figures has been broken this year, when the activity has continued unabated, is indicative of the wisdom of buying at this time."

Such records make for the increase in land values."

The California Real Estate association maintains that there will be no slump in building and property value for many years to come.

Values to Increase

"From our observation, we have come to the conclusion that values will increase throughout California. Building materials are reasonable in price, but there is an insufficient supply to meet the demand in many places. In Los Angeles it is virtually impossible to buy cement for construction work. I would not be surprised to learn that this condition

AUTO CAMP BIG BOOSTER ASSET HERE, SHOWN

Further proof that a modern, well-regulated auto camp is one of the best advertising assets a city can have, was furnished here today when L. A. Ludwig, custodian of Santa Ana's ideal camp, announced that many of those visiting the park have decided to make this city their permanent home.

"I receive inquiries daily concerning rentals and business properties in Santa Ana," said Ludwig, in announcing that 286 automobiles have been registered at the camp since it was opened, May 20.

"Nine hundred and fifty out-of-town motorists have been guests at the park since May 20," Ludwig continued, "and all are enthusiastic concerning Santa Ana and Orange county."

"Of this number many will become permanent residents of our city. Among those who have taken up their residence here in the past few weeks were the following:

Many Now Reside Here
 "J. H. Casey and family, formerly of Hillyard, Wash.; William M. Schmidt, of Eyota, Minn.; A. E. Craig, of Fresno; Samuel Collins of Waller, Ill.; C. C. Henry, Columbus, Ohio; E. E. Van Ness, Larned, Kas.; L. L. Lounsbury, Logan, Utah; W. M. Beaman, Florence, Ariz.; Will Haver, Lamar, Colo., and a number of others."

"These and other families have been so very favorably impressed with the park and Santa Ana that they decided, after visiting many other points in Southern California, that this was the one best spot for their home city in the best possible manner. Out-of-town visitors tell us that our camp is superior to many others, including San Diego and prevailed in Orange county. "If we are emphatic in telling residents of other less prosperous sections of California to buy, how much more true and important would be our advice as it concerns Santa Ana and Orange county."

WILL SPEED UP ON FIVE-STORY BUILDING

nection with the pressed brick exterior.

"I have felt for some time that Fullerton needed a modern structure of this kind," said Chapman, in discussing his plans with a Register representative.

"We have a splendid hotel under construction, a modern city hall under contemplation, and many other improvements are being made in Fullerton. It was apparent that a modern office building was our next greatest need."

"If the plan seems pretentious, it is only necessary to point out that Fullerton is a city of possibilities, that there is a growing demand for office and store space, and that the future is big with promise. We have already received offers for space in the new building."

The four upper stories of the building, Chapman said, will be devoted to offices of the most modern appointments. The ground floor will be used for store purposes.

Dual Control Elevator

The interior finish will be of hardwood, all corridor floors in tile, with a six-inch marble base. The main stairway will be finished in marble, with ornamental iron railings, and there will be a dual control elevator, which will have an operator in the daytime and will be operated automatically at night.

Although he was unable to state when the new building would be ready for occupancy, Chapman said his aim would be to finish the structure as speedily as possible. Iron and steel, ordered from Eastern plants, were expected to arrive in Fullerton within the next sixty or ninety days. Some of the contracts have been let, Chapman said.

Chapman's determination to erect a modern office building in Fullerton was made known to residents of that city several months ago, when plans were being completed for the new hotel now being erected.

Plan Other Buildings

At a public meeting, held at that time, Chapman announced that as soon as the hotel became an assured fact he would announce plans for the building he is now proposing to erect.

The announcement of Chapman's plans followed closely the statement by officials of the Wickersheim Implement company that this company would erect a $50,000 business block on West Commonwealth avenue, and is in line with other extensive improvements in this bustling Orange county city. Chapman's original plan was to build a three-story office building. The rapid growth of the city convinced him that the five-story structure was necessary.

Santa Barbara, and our own people should pass this information along as they travel."

Ludwig, in pointing out that every cabin at the camp is now occupied, said there was urgent need for more cabins. Organizations which have built cabins at the park include the Elks, Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and the Automobile club of Orange county.

"We could use at least twenty-five cabins," said Ludwig, "and there is a steady demand for such accommodations. The five cabins have been filled for the past week."

Virtually every state has been represented at the camp during the past few weeks. The cars ranged from Fords to Cadillacs and came from New York, New Hampshire, Maine, Idaho, South Dakota, Kansas, Vermont, Arizona, Minnesota, Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Montana, Illinois, Rhode Island, Iowa, Ohio, Texas, Oregon, Nebraska and other states.

OIL PROSPECTS FOR FAIRVIEW GOOD, CLAIM

BY ELWOOD J. MUNGER.

The Fairview Oil company's test well looked so good at 2476 feet that it was decided that drilling discontinue and the water string be set. Fairview from all appearances looks like one of the best wildcat sections of Southern California and there is reason to believe that 1000 barrels will be in order there in a few months.

Huntington Beach furnished a nice producer in the shape of a 650-barrel well on the Miley-Keck property. The Amalgamated Oil company completed Miley-Keck No. 10 at 4077 feet and brought in a test well.

The famous Huntington Central No. 2 continues to fight water.

The General Petroleum corporation has gone back to Huntington Beach and will put a well on property leased from Joseph Labney.

The extreme eastern side of the field at Huntington has not come into anything like commercial production yet. The Golden Dome Oil company failed to get a well at 3020 and the Peerless Petroleum company has a battle on with the water at 2853. The Standard Oil company has not been able to make an oil well out of the Thompson well. At present Thompson No. 1 is making about 80 barrels fluid, almost half of which is water. The Shell company's Newlands Borchard No. 1 is pumping mostly salt water and the Union Oil company's Newlands No. 2 at close to 3500 feet is not a producer of oil.

The Standard Oil company completed a 600-barrel well at Huntington A-17. The new producer was finished at 2850. The Standard's Surt No. 2 at 4250 is drilling in a hard shell and not showing any very promising oil indications.

Wildcatting in Southern California is taking on big proportions in spite of the fact that the daily production is climbing and a cry of over-production has been started. The Union Oil company of California has a rig up at Downey, one under construction at Compton, and materials going on the ground for locations at Athens on the Hill.

The Potter Oil company has made its appearance at Athens on the Hill by leasing 740 acres. The Fullerton Oil company is taking leases in this new field and plans immediate developments.

Southern California oil fields. Thomas backs this new field after making an exhaustive study of the field. Like Huntington Beach and the Richfield district Athens on the Hill has the showings in water well a thing that has led to the discovery of a number of leading California fields.

In the Irvine Hills, Newport district, the Viceroy-Gray Oil company has reached a depth of 4224. To date the well has shown some gas, and an occasional oil color. The outlook is beginning to be considered with some doubt. At No. 2 a depth of 3559 has been reached and the showings are about on a par with those found in No. 1.

The Long Beach Consolidated, the pioneer of the Newport field, is putting its No. 1 on a production at 2900 feet. The well has been pumping water and some oil color for ten days. It appears that the Long Beach Consolidated will have to go on deeper.

The Transport Oil company, headed by A. J. Wallace, former lieutenant governor of California, completed its Farrell No. 1 at Long Beach at 3140 and the new well started off at 2000 barrels. The big well is completely surrounded by production and is located in the most congested district of the Signal Hill field.

Aside from the General Petroleum's two big wells on the Santa Fe lease and the Union's big Bell discovery wells the Santa Fe Springs field has not proven the wonderful field it looked like it was going to become six months ago.

The Standard Oil company has passed the mile mark by over 200 feet in the Kellogg well at Richfield and as yet has not found any oil or any promising indications of it. The Union company's Chapman No. 20 failed to come up to anywhere near expectations. This well 4475 on the famous Chapman lease, started off at 120 barrels. Chapman 20 offsets the Wonder company's No. 4 and indicates that the southwest side of the Chapman holdings are not big well locations.

The La Habra Midway and the Southern California Oil company each have wells drilled at the turning point. The La Habra Midway is drilling at 3635 and a formation change from sandy blue shale to sticky shale makes the well look better. The Southern California is close to 3900 feet and unless an encouraging change takes place soon the outlook for the well cannot be said to be promising.

VICTOR'S STATEMENT SHOWS BANNER YEAR

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—Publication during recent months of accounts of failures and financial difficulties of manufacturers of talking-machine products has been misinterpreted to apply in some degree to the entire industry. That this is not the fact is clearly demonstrated by a comparative balance sheet showing the condition of the Victor Talking Machine company presented at the annual stockholders' meeting in just held.

The volume of output maintained during 1921 was almost identical with that of 1920, which was the best previous year. The balance sheet, as of December 31, 1921, shows total assets and total liabilities of $43,426,755. The total surplus of $31,351,024 was an increase of $2,190,681. Current assets decreased $209,331 and are now $29,037,456 and current liabilities decreased $2,184,272 and are now $7,074,830.

OUT OUR WAY

BY WILLIAMS

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AHERN

THE OLD HOME TOWN

BY STANLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

After eight years of married life, MARK SABRE discovers that he had cut himself off from human sympathy and appreciation. His prosaic and snobbish wife, MABEL, fails to understand his poetic temperament. At the firm of Fortune, East and Sabre, school and church outifters, Sabre is undermined by jealousy and a partnership, once promised to him, is promised to an associate, TWYNING. Suddenly one who understands him returns to his life. This is NONA, an old sweetheart, now the wife of the dashing Lord Tybar. Sabre learns that she is unhappy with Tybar and Nona tells him that she chose wrong: "I ought to have married you, Marko." The breach between Mabel and Sabre widens. Then Sabre learns that Twynning has become a partner.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Sabre remained standing at his desk. He had a tiny ball of paper in his hand and he rolled it round between his finger and thumb, round and round and round and round. In his mind was a recollection: "You have struck your tents and are upon the march."

He thought, "This has been coming a long time. It's my way of looking at things has done this. I'm getting so I've got nowhere to turn. It's no good pretending I don't feel this. I feel it most frightfully. It was rottenly done. Behind my back. Plotting against me, or they wouldn't have sprung it on me like that. This frightful feeling of being alone in the place. More empty at home. And now here's this. And I've got to go back to that. You have struck your tents and are upon the march! Yes. Yes. Yes."

He suddenly recollected Nona's letter. He took it from his pocket and opened it, and the second event was discharged upon him.

She wrote from their town house: "Marko, take me away—Nona." His emotions leapt to her with most terrible violence. He felt his heart leap against his breast as though, engine of his tumult, it would burst its bonds and to her. He struck his hand upon the desk. He said aloud, "Yes! Yes!" He remembered his words, "If you ever feel you can't bear it, tell me—Tell me."

He began to write plans to her. He would come to London tomorrow. She should come to the station if she could. If not, he would be at the Great Western Hotel. She would telephone to him there and they could arrange to meet and discuss what they should do. He would like to go away with her directly they met, but there were certain things to see to. He wrote, "But I can only take you—"

His pen stopped. Familiar words! He repeated them to himself, and their conclusion and their circumstance appeared and stood, as with a sword, across the passage of his thoughts. "But I can only lead you downwards. I cannot lead you upwards..."

As with a sword— He sat back in his chair and gazed upon this armed intruder to give it battle.

The morning passed and the afternoon while he sat, no more moving than to sink lower in his seat as the battle joined and as he most dreadfully suffered in its most dreadful onsets. Towards five o'clock he put out his hand without moving his position and drew towards him the letter he had begun. The action was as that of one utterly undone. He very slowly tore it across, and then across again, and so into tiniest fragments till his fingers could no more fasten upon them. He dropped his arm away and opened his hand, and the white pieces fluttered in a little cloud to the floor.

Presently he drew himself up to the table and began to write, writing very slowly because his hand trembled so. In half an hour he blotted the few lines on the last sheet:

So, simply what I want to do is to let our step—if we take it—be mine, not yours. We shall forget absolutely that you ever wrote it as though it had never been written. On Tuesday I will write and ask you, "Shall I come up to you?" So if you say "Yes" the action will have been entirely mine. It will start there. This hasn't happened. And during these days in between, just think like anything over what I've said. Honor can't have any degree. No, any more that truth can have any degree; whatever else the world can quibble to bits it can't partition those; truth is just truth and honor is just honor. And a marriage vow is a pledge of honor, and if one breaks it one breaks one's honor, never mind what the excuse is. There's no conceivable way I shall ask you to do on Tuesday and I'm just warning you so you shall have time to think beforehand."

He took his pen, and steadied his hand, and wrote: "And you reply, when I ask you, whichever it is, shall bring me light into darkness, unutterable darkness—"

He could hear the homeward movements about the office. It was time to go. He wheeled his bicycle to the letter box at the corner of The Precincts. As he dropped in his letter, the evening edition came bawling around the corner.

AUSTRIA DECLARES WAR ON SERBIA

He shook his head at the paper the boy held out to him and rode away. What had that kind of thing to do with him?

UNUTTERABLE DARKNESS! HE LIVED WITHIN IT DURING THE DAYS THAT FOLLOWED WHILE HE AWAITED THE DAY APPOINTED TO WRITE TO NONA AGAIN.

Whatever she said when he asked, whichever way she answered him he would be brought relief from his intolerable stress. If she maintained honor above love, his weakness, he knew would be welded into strength, as the presence of another brings enormous support to timidity; if she declared for love—his mind surged within him at the imagination of bursting away once forever the squeamish principles which for years, hedged, ing about his conduct on this side and on that, had profited nothing those on whose behalf they had been erected and his own life had been desolated into barrenness.

He was little disposed to divert attention to the international disturbances which were rumbling across the newspapers in portentous and enormous headlines. Ireland was pressed away. It was all Europe now—thrones, chancelleries, councils, armies.

The cauldron whose seething and bubbling had entertained some, at the banks, people fighting to convert their notes into gold. One London bank had suspended payments. May had shut out failure only by minutes when midday permitted them to close their doors. People were besieging the provision shops to lay in stores of food.

And poured in flames upon the hearth of every man's concerns. On Friday the Stock Exchange closed. On Saturday Germany declared war on Russia. In Sunday's papers Sabre read of the panic run at the banks, people fighting to convert their notes into gold. One London bank had suspended payments. May had shut out failure only by minutes when midday permitted them to close their doors. People were besieging the provision shops to lay in stores of food.

All his concerns, the crisis with Nona, with his honor and his love, that awaited determination, were disputed their place in his mind by the incredible and enormous events that each new hour discharged upon the world.

The news of Tuesday morning caused him at six o'clock in the evening to have been standing two hours in the great throng that filled Market Square gazing towards the offices of the County Times. Our mobilization, our resolve to stand by France if the German fleet came into the Channel; lastly, most awfully pregnant of all, our obligations to Belgium—that had been the morning's news. That afternoon the prime minister was to make a statement.

A great murmur swelled up from the waiting crowd, a great movement pressed it forward towards the County Times offices. On the first-floor balcony men appeared dragging a great board faced with paper, on the paper enormous lettering. The board was pulled out the window took a step forward and swung the letters into view. PREMIER'S STATEMENT

ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY EXPIRES MIDNIGHT

Sabre said aloud, "My God! War!" As a retreating wave harshly withdrawing upon the reluctant pebbles, there sounded from the crowd an enormous intaking of breath. An instant's stupendous silence, the wave poised for return. Down! A shattering roar, tremendous, wordless. The figure of Pike, the editor, appeared above the balcony, in his shirt sleeves, his long hair wild about his face, in his hands that which caught the roar as it wore by the throat, he stopped it and broke it out anew

Foreign White Stock

The Department of Commerce announces that, according to the census of 1920, the total foreign white stock in the United States on January 1 of that year was 38,398,958. By "foreign white stock" is meant the total foreign-born white population plus the native white population having one or both parents foreign born. The corresponding total for 1920 was 32,243,382. The increase of the foreign-white stock between 1910 and 1920 was, therefore, 4,155,576, or 12.9 per cent.

The total for 1920 includes 13,712,754 who were foreign born and came to this country as immigrants, and 22,686,204 who were born in this country but whose parents, one or both, were immigrants.

The Real Manna

Manna, upon which the Jews fed while wandering in the wilderness with Moses, is explained by Dr. Paul Haupt, instructor in Semitic languages at John Hopkins University.

Manna was a nutritive lichen like Iceland moss and the reindeer moss which in times of great drought and famine has served as food for a large number of men in the arid steppes or various countries stretching from Algeria to Tartary, Dr. Haupt declares.

The edible lichen, he said, contained not only starchy substances but in some cases a small quantity of saccharine matter. It was prepared by grinding the lichen-manna in querns or mortars, mixing it with honey-like drops which exudes from the punctured bark of the tamarisk tree, and baking this mixture.

Original Spuds

Thirteen thousand feet above sea level in the mountains of northern Ecuador, the region which is believed by scientists to be the cradle of the potato race, there has been found a true wild species of this plant which is quite different from the cultivated tubers. These discoveries were made by Wilson Popeo of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture.

Plant breeders in this country hope that tests may show characteristics which will make it worth while to combine these potatoes with our cultivated kinds by crossing. The wild tubers produce seed rather freely, but also are subject to one of the potato diseases of which their cultured brothers are often victims.

Many Telephones

The number of telephones in the United States is nearly two-thirds of the total number in the world, although the United States has only one-sixteenth of the total population of the world.

Telephone development comparisons between countries are interesting and significant and show that the United States is far and away ahead of all other countries, including the great countries of Europe. The United States has nearly 100,000,000 telephones, while the United Kingdom has only 12,500,000, France 12,500,000, Germany 12,500,000, and Japan 12,500,000.

Odd and Interesting

Experiments are being made to substitute clay roofing tiles for the corrugated iron so largely used for roofing in the tropics.

Potatoes retain most of their food value when steamed; when prepared the usual way 30 per cent of their value is lost.

Feathers, of which the color is washed out by the rain, are the curious possession of the touracou, a bird native to Senegal.

If all the progeny of one oyster lived and multiplied, and so on, through six generations, the heap of shells would be eight times the size of the oyster.

On a burst of exultant clamor. A Union Jack. He shook it madly with both hands above his head. The roar broke into a tremendous chant. "God Save the King!"

CHAPTER III

He approached Penny Green and realized for the first time the hard pace at which kind had been riding. And realized also the emotions which subconsciously had been driving him along. All the way he had been saying "War!" What he wanted, most terribly, was to say it aloud to someone. He wanted to say it to Mabel. He had a sudden great desire to see Mabel and tell her about it and take to her about it. He felt a curiously protective feeling toward her. He ran into the house and into the morning room. Mabel was not there. It was almost dinner time. She would be in her room. He ran upstairs. She was standing before her dressing table and turned to him in surprise.

"Whatever—" "I say, it's war!" (Continued in Our Next Issue)

EVENING SALUTATION

"Poverty is no shame but the being ashamed of it."

WHAT WATER MEANS TO US

The bringing in of a new water well at the edge of the Santiago hills brings vividly to our minds what water means to the Santa Ana valley.

Water makes a tremendous difference not only in land values but in the productive wealth of the county; the land value is made by productive wealth, excepting where the value is made by scenic beauty or location in relation to a center of population.

Study, for a minute, the situation faced by Ray Lambert. The 155 acres of unusually fine citrus orchards that he had developed at Lemon Cove were menaced. The well that had furnished water to the orchards had failed. Without a new supply, the orchards would inevitably die, and the land would go back to what it was eight years ago—a bean field.

With water, the property's lemons are worth $2500 an acre—possibly more—and oranges $3000 to $4000 an acre. Without water, the land might be valued at $300 an acre.

Consider, too, what the well means to some 100 or more acres not now irrigated. That land, as bean land, is worth say $300 an acre. The minute that water is assured, the minute that that land is furnished with irrigation water enough to care for Valencia groves, it is worth $1300 or $1500 an acre.

Thus, a well that will allow a steady, reliable stream of 100 inches to be placed upon the land is worth at least $1,000 an acre to the land before a tree is set out, and the value increases as the orchard grows.

The development of the Irvine property along the foothills section will be watched with much interest. Here is proof that Orange county is nowhere near the zenith of its orchard development. If additional wells are brought in, in the Santiago foothills, as seems likely, hundreds of acres of bean land along the foothills will be made into citrus property.

The lesson in the situation is obvious. Water means so very much to the Santa Ana valley that nothing in relation to its development and conservation can be neglected. Every inch must be guarded and sought for, if this great county is to grow into the land of its possibilities. The most pressing duty of the people of this county in relation to its development is the conservation of the waters of the Santa Ana river, not only as a matter of conservation but as a matter of flood control.

ITALY'S WHITE COAL

Italy has been one of Europe's busiest workshops for a thousand years and more, but for half a century her progress along industrial lines, although substantial and complex, has been hampered by the lack of fuel.

Before the war, England, Germany and Russia supplied coal, at high prices. During the war fuel costs reached unprecedented levels and Italian railways were reduced to the use of wood or peat. Now the government awakens to a realization of the peninsula's wealth in water power.

High mountains from one end of Italy to the other, good rainfall and rivers and waterfalls without number make the nation richer in hydro-electric potentialities than any other European land. The best estimates give her more than 50 horsepower to the square mile, as against 27 for France, 26 for Spain, 11 for Great Britain and only 9 for the United States. Available horsepower is put at 5,500,000 of which barely one-fourth has yet been utilized. The white coal of the country is equivalent to 12,000,000 tons of the imported black today, and could be made to serve the purpose of 50,000,000 tons.

Now Italy is out after capital for the development of her water power, but the government is determined that control of such properties shall not fall into the hands of citizens of other lands. Before the war Germany's money had permeated every branch of Italian industry, and the Latins have learned their lesson.

American capital will be welcome, but Americans must understand in advance just who owns the country.

ECONOMICS AND HUMANITY

When Lincoln declared that this nation could not exist half slave and half free he was stating a great economic principle as well as one of humanity, although sentimentalists stress the latter idea rather than the former. Economic principles do not sound idealistic as motives for guiding the human race forward, and for many years they have been regarded as mostly dry theory for specialists to labor over.

Recently there has been a change in the popular attitude toward economics, and a growing thirst for knowledge of this subject has been noted in every quarter. It is a good tendency. The spread of such knowledge will hasten the solution of many apparently unrelated problems. A better understanding of fundamental economic facts on the part of capital and labor both will lessen the breach between those two groups and demonstrate their true community of interest. A keener understanding of economic principles on the part of American farmers has already been of great benefit to agriculture and to the whole nation.

A number of prominent corporations have established special departments for the study of economics, passing along the results of this investigation to employees and public with notable benefit to all concerned.

The dust should be pretty well shaken from the books on this subject, for it has been discovered that common sense and economic principles work together exceptionally well.

VILLA, SCIENTIFIC FARMER

In all the recent stories of threatened uprisings in Mexico, the name of one famous upriser, Pancho Villa, has been conspicuously absent. A recent dispatch from Durango explains. Villa is too busy farming to bother any more about revolutions.

Talk about beating swords into plowshares! Villa has beaten his guns into tractors. He is said to have one of the finest ranches in Mexico, and is improving it right along. More than that, Villa is improving himself and his neighbors. He is learning to read and write Spanish and to speak English. He has established schools for his workmen and their children. He practices and preaches good methods of farming and stock-raising. And his agricultural success increases and his ranch improves in value. Villa grows more and more steady and conservative.

Who could have expected anything of the sort from Villa, of all men, a few short years ago? Is it too much to hope that he personifies the Mexico of the future?

And if Villa can be transformed into an ambitious farmer, what may we expect in the development of Mexicans who live in Orange County, or any other county of this or other states?

INVESTIGATE FIRST

It is a fine rule that somebody has devised for the guidance of prospective victims of fraudulent stock salesmen: "Before you invest, investigate."

If that rule were followed, honest people would have at least half a billion dollars more a year to put into homes or roads or clothes or victrolas. Almost any other use to which it might be put, with the possible exception of bootleg whisky, would be more profitable than handing it to the get-rich-quick vendors of fake securities.

The "Blue Sky" promoters are usually long on promises of wealth and short on explanations of their business assets and methods. The only safe way, when any kind of securities are offered, is to insist on a full elucidation. If it is not satisfactory, or is beyond the comprehension of the prospective purchaser, submit the matter to somebody who is familiar with business affairs and dealings.

When you are investing your money, don't be afraid to seek advice. Orange county people have had many severe lessons—severe, because costly—in get-rich-quick ventures. They invested before they investigated. An investigation after the investment is made may be as futile as locking the barn after the horse has been led away into the darkness of night.

Signal Hill's Birthday

Long Beach Press
Signal Hill, as an oil field, was one year old last Friday. On that date, in 1921, the presence of oil was discovered on the eminence which Long Beach fondly hoped would be, some day, a magnificent public park.

Whatever the distant future may hold in that regard it is certain now that the wealth of oil will first be drained from the capacious basin that underlies the knoll.

The fortunes that have been made, and are yet to be acquired because the pioneers overlooked the riches which were beneath their feet will have a marked influence upon Long Beach. Of that there need be no doubt.

It may be that the bulk of the profit will go to distant holders of these oil properties, but in the great majority of instances the land itself is still locally owned, and royalties will benefit local people. This royalty will average about one-sixth of the production.

Other benefits that are felt here arise from the payroll which drilling and refining and supplying creates. Hundreds of employees and their families must be fed and housed and clothed, entertained and educated.

Industrial development will naturally follow the uncovering of such quantities of oil and gas. This will be a slower process, but not less sure. The transformation that has been wrought in the appearance of Signal Hill symbolizes the change that is being effected in the economic groundwork of Long Beach. Oil is having its influence upon the business life of the community, just as it will, later on, have much to do with the expansion of its industrial activities.

If one year can do so much in changing the trend of a city's progress, what will ten or twenty years accomplish? And it is certain that this field will not be short lived. The unusual depth of oil sand is assurance of its permanence.

The district is rapidly expanding. Instead of being limited as first thought, to the higher elevations of Signal Hill, it extends northward, westward and seemingly eastward, although less proof has been found in that direction. It now comprises 6000 acres, perhaps much more.

Of this area the city itself owns from 200 to 600 acres, as events only will establish. In the excitement attendant upon the exploitation of private holdings the municipal interest may have been somewhat overlooked; but it is certain to receive the attention it deserves when production begins to mount.

Co-Operation Is Needed

Pasadena Star-News
The Boulder Canyon dam is sorely needed—this is not disputed, could not be disputed. It would be of incalculable benefit to the Colorado river basin—in truth, to the whole Southwest. In view of these facts, it behooves all interests in this section to co-operate to bring about the construction of this great dam. Particularly should there be hearty co-operation among the seven states in the Colorado basin, and between these states and federal government. It should be possible to reach agreement as to distribution of water and power and as to development of the stream.

Naturally, each state desires to make arrangements as favorable as possible for itself. Naturally, there must be concessions, or it would be impossible to reach a working agreement. The sooner this broad, practicable agreement is reached, the better for all concerned. Because the sooner this agreement is reached, the sooner can legislation be had from Congress, the sooner can backing be had from the administration at Washington, and the sooner can work be started on the mammoth enterprise.

A meeting is to be held in Santa Fe a few weeks hence, at which the commission, headed by Herbert C. Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, will endeavor to effect this coveted working agreement. If public sentiment in each of the seven states in the Colorado basin were crystallized for a conciliatory agreement, the work of this commission might be aided and expedited.

Editorial Shorts

Mrs. Roy Gardner, wife of the notorious bandit, said, when her husband was taken to the penitentiary the last time and she went on the stage, that she intended to have an operation performed on him to cure him of his criminal tendencies. It is now announced from Arizona that the mail robber is to undergo an operation with a view to applying for a pardon. An operation may show whether there is a fracture of the skull and something pressing on the brain, but obviously it could not be shown that the operation was a success unless Gardner were turned loose. If the symptoms returned it would be said, "The patient was entirely successful but the operation failed!"—Stockton Record.

The Facts carries an announcement by Lieutenant Governor Young today that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination to succeed himself. Mr. Young is one of the fine men in public life in California. He is a man of the highest integrity. The people will undoubtedly choose him to succeed himself. To do otherwise would be a great mistake.—Redlands Facts.

The clerk of the school board at Albany, where married teachers have been dismissed, declares that the board's authority is sufficient even to discontinue a teacher on the grounds of immorality. A few old-fashioned people still cling to the idea that brains and efficiency are qualifications for teachers.—San Francisco Chronicle.

WORK THROUGH

There is a saving power in the world—a something that follows us, that picks us up when we stumble, and that lifts our heads when they get too much in the habit of looking downward.

This power is work! And its application is to work through. Many worry through, fret through, complain through. But the real rulers, the leaders, creators, dominators, doers—those who sow and reap and accumulate and leave something of worth and substance behind—work through.

It's not the easiest way. Sometimes you have to go through stone walls—walls that look absolutely impassible. But there is a way to get through them. It's to work through them.

Work is a healer. Work is a bolster. Work is the sum and substance of what it pays to make life out of. When you are in doubt as to the best next move, get right to some useful job—and by the time you have worked through it, the chances are that your vision will have cleared. Work through!

While the year is young, while newer things are budding, while so many are doing their best to make the world a little better and to even up what has been torn down through years of war and sorrow, you do your part—take the cue—work through!

Who were our sharers of sorrow, who were our makers of joy,
Lighting the heart of high manhood in the heart of the lonely boy?

Hallowed with love and with wonder, in sheltered ways they trod,
Seers of sublime divination, keeping the truce with God.

Confident, tender, courageous, leaving the law for the higher,
Lifting the feet of the nations out of the dust and the mire.

Luring civilization on to the fair and then new,
Given God's bidding to follow, having God's business to do.

Mothers unflinching, lovely, molding our manhood then,
Walked in their woman's glory, swaying the might of men.

If we be the builders of beauty, if we be the masters of art,
Whose were the gleaming ideals, whose the uplift of the heart?

Theirs is the stary vision, theirs the inspiring hope,
Since night, the brooding enchantress, promised that day should ope.

Game Resources

The wild game resources of the United States have a value that seems nearly fabulous, Dr. Barton Warren Evermann, president of the Pacific Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, declared. He estimates the annual kill of game worth: deer, $3,000,000; rabbits, $3,000,000; game birds, $50,000,000; fur-bearing animals, $10,000,000. To the wild food and animal wealth must be added the value of our great coal and oil fields and natural gas, forests of hard and soft woods, our hundreds of species of valuable insectivorous and predaceous birds, and the rich fisheries of our Atlantic and Gulf coasts, Great Lakes and interior waters, and of our Pacific Coast and Alaska.

This very richness of our natural resources has had much to do with making us the most short sighted, the most extravagant, and the most

The Sun Cure

Seasonal are the reports confirming the curative value of sunlight. It seems that what has long been vaguely surmised or cultivated as a fact is at last to be incorporated into the realm of sober science. For many years Dr. Rollier has been treating tuberculous sores and swellings by exposing them to sunshine on his Alpine farm at Leysin, Switzerland, where the boys work and play all day long in the open with no clothing but a breech-clout. Those too weak to stand are exposed in beds on the porches and given ten minutes sunning the first day, twenty minutes the next and so on, being carefully watched to see that the rays do not burn the skin or set up a fever.

No News

By Berton Braley
The news that gets into the papers is often absorbing enough, it's full of unusual papers.

Of folks who pull high-pressure stuff;

Of murders and crimes and divorces, Of plots and of schemes that appall.

But the great tide of life as it courses Is seldom worth mention at all!

For news is the quick, throbbing record

Of things that are odd and outre, Of lives that are famous—or checked—

Or strange things that chance day by day;

Don't judge life too much by the dread lines

That daily the presses have hurled,

The folks who don't get in the head-lines

Make up the great bulk of the world!

There's little that's startling or snappy

In people who play, work and save,

No news in a marriage that's happy,

No thrill in the folks that behave; Yet these are the destiny shapers

Who, winter, spring, summer and fall, Convince us, though not in the papers

That life's pretty good, after all! (Copyright, 1922, NEA Service)

Odd and Interesting

The volume of gasoline that is lost at one stage of evaporation in the handling of crude oil is equal to one-third of the country's annual gasoline production.

According to an old belief, if the fire burns brightly on Christmas morning it betokens prosperity during the year; if it smolders, adversity.

The Super-Six

The six greatest men in history, according to H. G. Wells, are Jesus, Buddha, Asoka, Aristotle, Roger Bacon and Abraham Lincoln.

The names are familiar to you, with the exception of Asoka. He was a king who reigned in India 2145 years ago. Wells includes him in the super-six list because "He is the only military monarch on record who abandoned warfare after victory."

Roger Bacon was an English philosopher of seven centuries ago, who dived in Black Magic. Most of his greatness is based on myth and supposition.

Aristotle, the Greek philosopher, might be included in the list, though he was not great enough to induce a pupil, Alexander the Great, to refrain from waging vicious wars of conquest.

No two people will agree on a list of the six greatest men in history. Most Americans would exclude Jesus, believing him a divinity instead of a man.

What list do you nominate? In compiling it, keep in mind that real greatness depends on service to humanity.

The most important thing in civilization is the home. And most housewives, after thinking about it, will agree that the most important service to the home was the invention of the cooking stove and its big brother, the heating furnace.

No one knows who invented them. But the honor of conceiving the fundamentals of the modern form goes to Benjamin Franklin.

Viewed from modern standards, it is probable that several of history's six greatest men are living today. Marconi, inventor of wireless, belongs in the list. We live too close to the crude, pioneering, early stages of his invention to conceive the tremendous importance it will play in the life of our remote descendant.

If people live on Mars or other bodies out in space, they will get in touch with us only by radio. Breaking man's earth-shackles and putting him in touch with far-off space would place the inventor of radio in every list of the great.

The Wright brothers, who flew the first airplane and opened the way for man's conquest of the air and distance, are among history's greatest.

Einstein also belongs on the list, for he is the forerunner of man's thinking in terms of four dimensions instead of three.

And how about Watt, inventor of the steam engine, without which the railroads would not have been built?

At the tip-top of the list should be Gutenberg or the other man, an unknown Chinese, who invented printing from movable type. Nine-tenths of our progress—physical, intellectual and spiritual—is due to printing.

UNNUMBERED FOES

An illiterate hill-billy from North Carolina was put to work on the rifle-range at Camp Meade. Target number eight was assigned him. Not knowing one figure from another and being anxious to do as was required he plugged, from his station, every target in the line.

An officer noting this, asked him, "How come," and he said:

"Ah don't know one figger from another, suh, so Ah jes' thought Ah'd hit 'em all an' make sho' o' hittin' th' right one, suh."

"Well," said the officer, that target just opposite you, with the figure that looks like one hole above another, is eight."

The soldier promptly put a bullet through each of the "holes," just to show he understood.

Then the officer went on: "The thing of knowing numbers will be a great handicap to you when you go across."

"No suh, hit won't," said the mountaineer.

"Why not?"

"Reckase, yuh see, thaim Geb mans won't be numbered."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Moon-Man Astounds Comet-Legs

By Olive Roberts Barton

Mr. Peerabout, the Man-in-the-Moon, searched everywhere for Comet-Legs, his enemy, who had pushed him off the Moon.

He finally reached Bluster-Gust Land and he and Buskins, a fairy, looked into every nook and corner.

But no Comet-Legs was there. It was most puzzling, for there was the little star Comet-Legs always rode tied tight to the Weatherman's chimney.

"Well," said Mr. Peerabout finally, "I give up. I'll take the star and ride it back to the Moon and you can take your little elevator back to the apple-tree in the orchard."

"Goodbye, Buskins, and thank you for helping me. They say it's an ill wind that does no one good. I'll say it's a bad fall that does no one good, for if I hadn't fallen I'd never have met you."

Buskins shook Mr. Peerabout's hand and departed.

Then Mr. Peerabout straddled the star that belonged to Comet-Legs and rode back to the Moon.

"And what do you think, my dears? There was Comet-Legs on the top of the very mountain from which he had pushed Mr. Peerabout!"

When he saw the Moon-Man he was so surprised he nearly fell over.

"Jumping jumping jacks!" he cried. "Where did you find my star?"

"I've looked for it everywhere. Those meddlesome Twins ran off with it. Bring it here please. I have some place I wish to go, and I can't leave the Moon without it."

"Leave the Moon!" cried Mr. Peerabout. "Why, I thought you wished to be Moon-Man and stay here forever!"

"No, sir!" Not for a million dollars, cried Comet-Legs. "I can't get away fast enough."
